Snow Slated To Continue; Tragedies Mark Storm

...Lincoln's .76 Inch Tops State Rainfall Reports

Heavy snow, rain, sleet and drizzle, whose badly-needed moisture content will give life to the state's parched farmland, brought death to four Nebraskans Sunday.

Heavy rain fell over most of eastern Nebraska, with Lincoln's .76 inch total topping incomplete reports from the rain-soaked area. Skies continued to drip early Monday morning.

The lives of two Sidney women and a North Platte man were snuffed out in a two-car smashup near Brady's home on snow-packed, icy U.S. 30, which was turned into a road to death by winter's icy hand.

A Culbertson farmer, aloft in a plane with his wife, was killed when the craft plunged to earth near Maywood, Neb., during a snow and sleet storm. His wife was critically injured.

And winter's hand was not yet stilled. Heavy snow is to continue in northeast Nebraska Monday, the Weather Bureau said, with snow scheduled also in the south and scattered light snow due in the extreme west.

Up to four inches or more of the moisture-laden snow is to cover the northeast area, the Bureau said, in a special warning.

Moderate northeasterly winds 20-30 mph are to whip eastern Nebraska during the day, as snow flurries continue into the night in the northeast.

Heavy winds gusting to 44 mph at Norfolk blew cold rain across eastern Nebraska early Monday morning.

West Hit

Snow at Scottsbluff, Sidney and North Platte packed highways in western Nebraska Sunday night and early Monday, and the State Safety Patrol reported "travel not recommended" in the Sidney area.

State Highway 19 in the Bridgeport-Sidney area was reported snow-packed; roads near Valentine, Ainsworth and Burwell were reported icy and snow-packed. The Patrol warned motorists to avoid travel in those areas.

U.S. 81 and U.S. 20 in the Norfolk area were reported icy and dangerous by the Patrol.

Roads near Cotesfield in central Nebraska were reported packed with heavy snow and ice and "dangerous," the Patrol said.

Norfolk Highways

Snow on U.S. 275 west and U.S. 81 north of Norfolk made travel hazardous, while ice-covered U.S. 77 in the Winnebago area in northeastern Nebraska was reported dangerous by the Patrol.

Snow estimated to be the wettest of the season, piled to four inches at Alliance.

Other snow depths reported: three inches, Burwell (with .74 inch precipitation) and Grand Island; two, Norfolk and Sidney; one, North Platte and Valentine.

Southeastern Nebraska, which received scattered thunderstorms and drizzle, was slated for colder temperatures along with the rest of the state, the Weather Bureau said.

Hazardous

In the northern part of the state, snows and freezing drizzle brought hazardous driving conditions and warnings to stockmen in northern and central Nebraska.

Atkinson reported snow, sleet and rain totaling two inches. Snow and winds cut visibility to one-quarter mile at Sidney and one-half mile at Alliance.

Blowing snow was reported at Ainsworth, with strong to moderate northeasterly winds blowing in most of northwest Nebraska.

Heavy Sunday thunderstorms brought sizable rainfall to Grand Island, while Kearney reported only light rain changing to freezing drizzle.

David City received some hail during a thundershower which brought .60 inch precipitation.

Rainfall in the state included:

Agonizing Uncertainty Ends—

Philippine President's Charred Body Located

... 25 OTHERS DIE IN CRASH

MANILA, (Monday) (AP)—President Ramon Magsaysay's charred, burned body was found Monday by rescuers in the wreckage of his plane on Cebu Island.

The popular president's body was identified by his brother, Jesus, who flew to the scene in a helicopter.

This blasted the lingering hope of his family and staff in Manila that he might have survived the fiery crash on a Cebu mountain Sunday.

One Survivor

The crash also killed 25 others in his party. One passenger on the ill-fated plane, a Filipino newspaperman, miraculously survived. He was brought out by farmers.

A sorrowful Philippines awaited the arrival of vice president Carlos P. Garcia, who will be sworn in as the young republic's new chief executive.

Garcia was flying in Monday afternoon from Australia, where he had attended a SEATO conference. He will serve until another president is named in the regular elections in November.

Election Favorite

Magsaysay, who won the presidency by a landslide in 1953, was a candidate for re-election and had been considered an overwhelming favorite.

Mayor Sergio Osmena Jr. of Cebu City said he did not know when the body could be brought down out of the jungle.

An assistant in the presidential office said the bodies of Magsaysay and three of his close associates were found in the presidential compartment immediately behind the crew's quarters.

The other bodies were those of Rep. Pedro Lopez of Cebu, Secretary of Education Gregorio Hernandez Jr., and former Senator Tomas Cabili.

A tight guard was thrown around the wreckage. Security officers were checking the possibility of sabotage.

FOUR SLIGHTLY INJURED IN 2-CAR COLLISION

Four persons were slightly injured in a two-car collision Sunday night 2 1/2 miles south of here on U.S. 77.

The injured were Mrs. Charlotte Skimonek, 59, of 1540 J; Miss Helen M. Mares, 29, of 536 So. 16th; Shirley Stubbendeck, 21, of 1738 M; and Harold T. Beers, 31, of 2534 Kessler Blvd.

Miss Mares suffered a bump on the forehead and was reported in satisfactory condition at a Lincoln hospital.

A companion in the Mares car, Mrs. Skimonek, was hospitalized for a head laceration and also reported in satisfactory condition.

Miss Stubbendeck was treated and released. She suffered minor cuts.

Beers suffered a sprained back but was not hospitalized.

The Safety Patrol said Beers was driving south on U.S. 77 when the wheels of his car went off the side of the road. The car went out of control, the Patrol said, when Beers attempted to get the car back on the pavement.

The Beers car collided almost head-on with a northbound car driven by Miss Mares, the Patrol said.

Lincoln Craft Down; Iowan Killed, Local Man Is Hospitalized

... Twin-Engine Ship Falls At Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fatality Is 2nd

NAS Air Death

The air fatality of Lt. Cmdr. James Glen Sanford of Des Moines, Ia., was the second resulting from an in-the-air plane mishap in the history of the Lincoln Naval Air Station.

The first occurred last Friday when Lt. Eldon M. Brown of Sioux City, Ia., was killed in the crash of his F9F-6 Cougar jet about 20 miles northwest of Lincoln.

The station was commissioned in December, 1948.

Aeronautics Administration said it received a report from a navy plane shortly before the crash, saying it was running low on fuel. The crash occurred at 9:05 p.m.

Naval authorities in Lincoln said they did not know the cause of the crash.

Cmdr. Miles said he did not know any of the details concerning the altitude of the plane or how it crashed.

Naval Station authorities in Lincoln attempted to contact Hart by telephone, but doctors attending the controlman refused to allow Hart to talk on the telephone.

Cmdr. Miles said that a report received by him told of Hart suffering from lacerations to his face and a possible fractured hand.

Sanford was reported dead on arrival at South Side Hospital in Pittsburgh.

On Hillside

The plane plummeted to earth on a brush-covered hillside. Hart fought his way out of the wreckage and stumbled to a nearby farmhouse to report the crash.

The crash occurred about five hours and 50 minutes after takeoff.

Sanford, who lived at 4612 Wakonda Parkway in Des Moines, was an inactive reserve pilot who had been flying out of the Naval Air Station in Lincoln since 1951.

In November of 1956 Sanford was made air liaison officer to the Air Wing Staff 76 at the Lincoln station. His regular occupation was as a regional manager of warehouse distribution.

He attended Kansas Wesleyan from 1937 to 1939 and Kansas State College from 1939 to 1941.

Surviving are his wife, Frances C., a six-year-old son, Timothy Scott, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren G. Sanford of Kansas City, Mo.

Hart came to Lincoln Jan. 12, 1957, for regular active duty at the Lincoln station from the U.S. Naval Station at Argentina, Newfoundland. He entered the Navy from Fall River, Mass.

Hart's wife, Jeanette M., and five children live with him in Lincoln.

NAS Reports

No Leads In

Crash Cause

The Lincoln Naval Air Station reported Sunday "no leads" had been uncovered in the cause of the crash of a Navy F9F-6 Cougar jet fighter Friday near Garland.

The crash killed Marine Corps pilot, Lt. Eldon M. Brown of Sioux City, Ia.

Lt. Cmdr. L. Fred Heuke, safety officer for the Air Station, reported that all salvage work at the site of the crash has been completed, and the plane, a Lincoln Naval Air Station craft, was being reassembled at the Station. Instruments, gauges and other parts of the plane were being examined carefully.

"We are proceeding as quickly as possible, but it may take several days to reassemble the plane because it was demolished so thoroughly," Heuke said.

A six-man investigating board from the Naval Air Station is examining the wreckage.

BOMB SCARE

BRINGS DOWN

TWO AIRLINERS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two Eastern Air Lines planes were ordered to land Sunday after the airline office here received a call that a bomb had been planted on an Eastern south-bound flight.

St. Louis County police quoted the caller as saying an Eastern plane "going south" would be "blown all over Missouri."

Eastern recalled two flights which had left the Lambert-St. Louis municipal airport, one bound for Nashville, one for Miami.

One, which returned to St. Louis, was searched by county police. The other landed at the Scott Air Force Base, 21 miles east of St. Louis in Illinois.

Police, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and crewmen unloaded passenger and baggage but found no bomb.

West Nebraska Collision Kills 3

Sidney Women, North Platte Man Victims On Snow-Packed Road

BRADY, Neb. (AP)—Two Sidney women and a North Platte man were killed Sunday afternoon in a two-car crash on snow-packed U. S. Highway 30 about one mile east of here.

Four others were injured.

Killed were William A. Gardner, 51, owner of a North Platte candy company and a recent candidate for mayor; Mrs. Eleanor Kallhoff, 44, and Mrs. Violet Farmer, 43, both of Sidney.

The Highway Patrol said a car driven by Gardner went out of control on the slippery surface and smashed into the auto driven by Mrs. Kallhoff.

Mrs. Gardner, 41, was reported in "very serious" condition at a Gothenburg hospital with chest injuries and facial lacerations.

Also hospitalized and in less serious condition were Byron N. Gardner, 12, son of the dead man, shock; and two passengers in the Kallhoff car, Mrs. Effie Folland, 43, toe and wrist injuries, and Mrs. Delores Schnell, 31, chest injuries.

Mrs. Folland is the wife of the mayor of Sidney. Mrs. Kallhoff's husband, Tom, was killed in a traffic accident in Sidney four years ago.

The Highway Patrol said both cars were demolished.

The Sidney women were driving home after participating in the state women's bowling tournament at Columbus.

The deaths raised to 49 Nebraska's traffic fatality total for the year, as against 65 at this time in 1956.

SHURE AND ITS O'EISENHOWER

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (U) — President Eisenhower observed St. Patrick's Day with a green carnation pinned to his coat lapel.

It was put there after chapel services aboard the cruiser Canberra by Boatswain Second Class Jack McAndrew, of Scranton, Pa. McAndrew, who has been in the Navy 10 years, said his grandparents came from County Mayo in Ireland.

The plane was the last of the McCook Flying Club planes to leave the Curtis Airport.

'Synthetic Corn' Developed

New Strains Could Give Cheaper Seed

Help for dryland corn growers may be coming soon in the form of synthetic strains that can be propagated like the old open-pollinated varieties.

Research work, currently being done at the Experiment Station of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, under the leadership of Dr. John Lonnquist, a corn breeder, has brought forth some of the following results.

Plant breeders say that synthetic strains now being developed and tested may sometime yield as well as hybrids. More important, synthetics will offer a cheaper source of seed for farmers who have no irrigation to help them through dry seasons.

According to Lonnquist, the easiest way to explain what breeders mean by "synthetics" is to think in terms of "breeding-up" in beef breeding when a herd is "graded-up."

One of the main advantages of this type of seed, he said, was that synthetic varieties will usually produce a plant as vigorous as the plant from which it was taken.

Another advantage of the synthetics is their variability between plants, which makes them less vulnerable to extreme hazards than hybrids.

When all the plants in a field of hybrids are at about the same stage of development, a few days of very hot, dry wind may result in poor pollination because of tassel blasting.

The more variable synthetics will fare better, according to experiments, since they shed pollen over a much longer period.

The disadvantage of the hybrids in hot, dry weather is sometimes offset by planting mixtures of varying maturity.

Plant breeders are not yet ready to recommend synthetics, nor is the seed available in sufficient quantity for commercial planting. However, they believe synthetics may find a place on dryland farms in future droughts.

2 NU Faculty Men Invited

...To St. Joseph Meet

Two University of Nebraska faculty members will be on the program of the Mid-Central Section of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers meeting March 29 and 30 at St. Joseph, Mo.

Dean Arthel, Extension Irrigationist, will report on his Extension program dealing with improving performance of irrigation pumping plants.

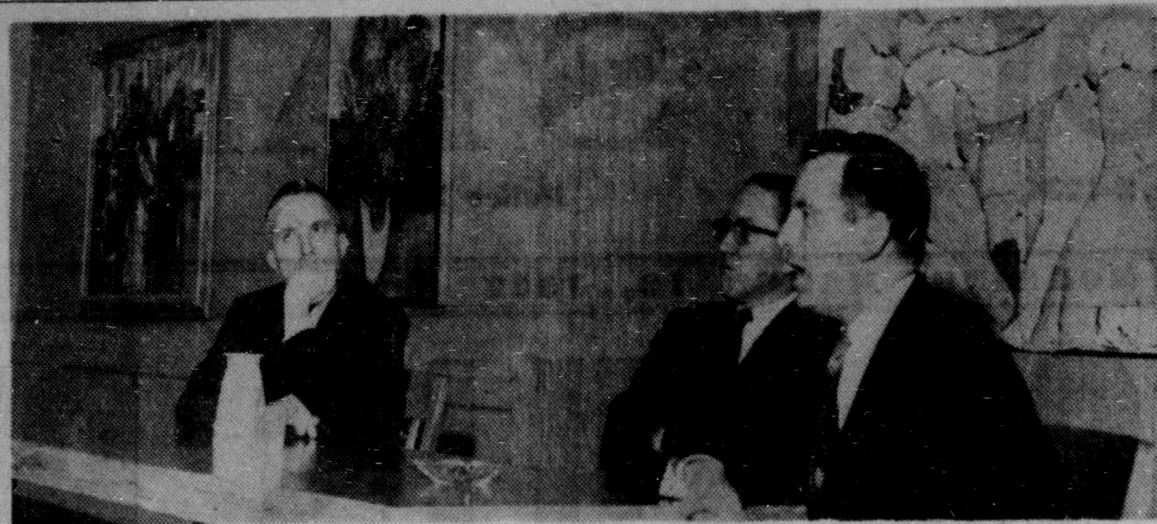

George Steinbruegge, professor of agricultural engineering, will present a paper on his study of sidewall buckling in tractor tires.

Another Nebraskan on the program will be Walter Behlen, president of the Behlen Manufacturing Co. of Columbus. He will speak on the "Design, Development and Production of Agricultural Equipment."

George M. Petersen, assistant professor of agricultural engineering is secretary-treasurer of the Section, according to L. W. Hurlbut, chairman of the agricultural engineering department.

Young GOP Plans State Meet In May

Plans for the Young Republican State Convention, to be held May 24-25 in Omaha, were made at a meeting here Sunday.

Mrs. Don Fowler of Gering, state president, said a social party will be scheduled the evening of the 24th (Friday), and a noon luncheon and banquet, featuring a national speaker, will be held on the 25th (Saturday).

Election of officers is slated for the convention. William Palmer of Omaha is chairman of the event.

Essay Contest
In other business, the group outlined the procedure for entering the 300-word essay contest on "What Being A Republican Means To Me."

Entries should be submitted to Mrs. Fowler before April 15, she announced. Nebraska winner will receive a $25 savings bond, and the national winner will receive a trip to the national convention in Washington.

Services Tuesday For Mrs. Callaway

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie C. Callaway, 77, of 4523 Calvert, will be held 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the College View Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Elder M. W. Deming will officiate. Burial will be in the College View Cemetery.

Mrs. Calvert, a native of Platte Center, Neb., died Saturday. A member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, she had lived most of her life in Lincoln.

Surviving are her daughters, Mrs. Ruth May of Lincoln and Mrs. Adeline Quick of Columbus; sisters, Mrs. Minnie Scharton of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Mary Schroeder of Hecla, S. D., and Mrs. Lena Oestmann of Lincoln; brothers, George Logemann of Plainview and John Logemann of Creston.

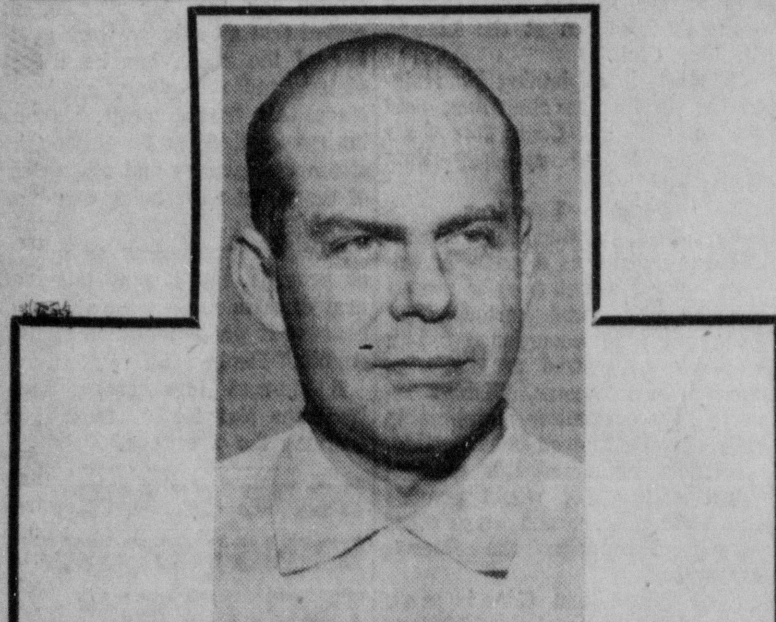

Neligh Judge To Serve For Ankeny

District Judge Lyle E. Jackson of Neligh will preside in the absence of District Judge Harry R. Ankeny during the first week of a two-week Lancaster District Court jury session opening Monday.

Judge Ankeny, seriously injured in an auto accident last September, is convalescing in California.

Judge Jackson will preside with Lancaster District Judges Harry Spencer and John L. Polk.

Judge Spencer said a fill-in for Judge Ankeny the second week of the term has not been secured yet.

Hallam Plant Site Not In Negotiation

ing the green light from the Atomic Energy Commission for the construction of a nuclear reactor it is moving forward with plans for the early construction of a conventional steam generating plant at the Hallam site.

Consumers recently received equipment bids for this plant.

Sunday Schacht said, "We consider the conventional and atomic elements to be a part of one and the same project."

"If the conventional plant is completed first there will be provisions to tie in the nuclear elements as soon as they are available to us."

Reed deplored the reports regarding the Hallam site which he said "probably are embarrassing to Consumers as well as vexing to the Beatrice Utility Board."

"We expect to receive wholesale bids Tuesday from three Nebraska public power agencies—Consumers, the Nebraska Public Power System and the Norris Rural Public Power District."

"We are going to buy between $3 and $5 million worth of electricity covering the coming decade. That is not a small matter."

"Our central concern is which is the best of the three offers."

"This report of driving away an atomic plant is prejudicial and distracting and we cannot see that we are doing anything to shift a load center."

Reed explained that "whether we buy power from Consumers, Norris or NPPS it is all a part of the Nebraska integrated power system and will come from the same generators as formerly."

Beatrice, a power customer second to Lincoln in southeast Nebraska has for a decade purchased wholesale power from Consumers for its municipal distribution system.

It is presently buying power on a one year extension of its original contract at established rates. At this juncture its purchases approximate $20,000 worth of power per month.

Texas Genetics Expert To Speak

Author of scientific papers on genetics, Dr. Robert P. Wagner of the University of Texas department of zoology, will be a guest lecturer on the University of Nebraska campus Wednesday through Friday.

An authority on the genetic control of metabolism, he will deliver the following public lectures:

An introduction outlining the scope of physiological genetics, Wednesday, 4 p.m., Keim Hall College of Agriculture.

Gene action, Thursday, 4 p.m., Morrill Hall, city campus.

Gene interaction, Friday, 4 p.m., Keim Hall.

His visit is being sponsored by the University's Genetics Institute and Research Council.

Jack Peacock Of Omaha To Plan Mansion Interior

Jack Peacock, Omaha interior decorator, has been selected as the interior decorating consultant for the new governor's mansion.

The appointment was made by Selmer A. Solheim, architect for the mansion, with the approval of the State Building Commission.

Solheim said that Peacock "has done many decorating jobs of note and was selected to do most of the interior decorating for the State Capitol Building when it was built."

Bidding Plans
Plans and specifications are being prepared for bidding on all items of furniture, carpets, drapes and wallpaper to be used in the furnishing of the new mansion.

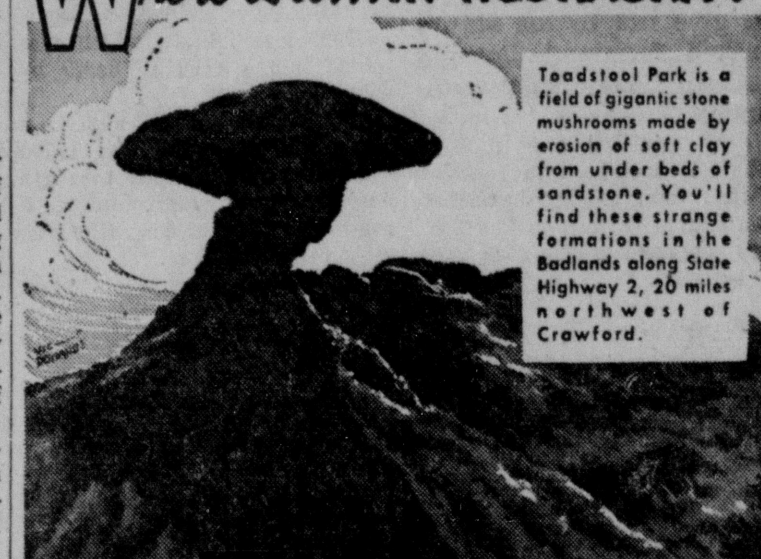

Persons or firms interested in bidding on the items can obtain bidding documents by writing to the architect or the State Building Commission, Solheim said.

When the Lincoln PEO Round Table met recently to celebrate the 35th anniversary of the group

Extension Club New Members

The Tea Time Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Sam Stehr on Thursday afternoon. Three new members, who were present, were Mrs. Rupert Young, Mrs. Robert Alexander and Mrs. Bert Tichota.

The lesson, "Laundry Short-Cuts", was given by Mrs. Stehr.

special honored guests were past presidents of the organization.

The Round Table was organized to coordinate activities of Lincoln PEO Chapters and to provide social meetings for unaffiliated PEO members in the city.

To Hear Talk

The regular meeting of Chapter AI, PEO, will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Foods and Nutrition Building, College of Agriculture campus.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Ethel Ryne, Mrs. Hazel Stanley and Miss Edith Hilton, and the program, "A Doorway to Security" will be given by A. W. Griffin of Continental National Bank.

DAWNS another Monday in another week in a month that already is past middle-age and is growing older by the moment—and with the dawn comes news which has to do with the fore and aft of a week-end.

On the far side is a birthday celebration for which Col. and Mrs. Henry C. Godman were host and hostess at their quarters at the Lincoln Air Force Base. Col. and Mrs. Godman entertained at dinner on Thursday evening to honor the birthday anniversary of Col. Perry Hoisington. Eleven guests were invited for the dinner and an informal evening.

AND on Saturday Miss Lee Spencer, whose marriage to Neal Harlan will be an event of June, was complimented when Mrs. C. L. Clark was hostess at a 10:30 o'clock brunch at her home. The guest list of 12 included a group of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae who presented the bride-elect with a "handy" shower.

A special feature of the party was a birthday cake to honor the anniversary of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Harry Spencer.

SOMEONE told us that Mrs. C. H. Pomeroy, who has been spending the past five weeks as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walton C. Ferris, left on Saturday to return to her home in Minneapolis.

MORE news of the Ferris family has to do with Walton Ferris, Jr., who planed off to Boston on Friday evening. After spending Saturday and most of Sunday with Boston friends, Mr. Ferris went to New York City to attend an electronics meeting. He will return to Lincoln Tuesday evening.

Mr. Ferris is working on his Master's Degree in physics at the University of Nebraska.

FLANE-ING to the West Indies for several days of island hopping following their attendance at a National Council of Garden Clubs meeting in Miami this week, will be Mrs. George G. Swingle, Mrs. Frank Boehmer, Mrs. H. H. Kurtz, and Mrs. W. W. Windle of Falls City. Then they will return to Miami, and after spending a little time at various Florida spots will wend their way homeward.

Secretaries Initiation

The Cornhusker chapter of the National Secretaries Association initiated new members into the group following the meeting last week at the YWCA.

New members of the chapter are Miss Mabel Bodkin, Mrs. Joan Oakes, Miss Lulu Thurber, Mrs. Betty Dovel, Mrs. Marie Holmgren, Mrs. Lois Howe, Miss Deloris Winquist, Miss Norma Vavra and Miss Dorothy Williams.

Mrs. Martha Rebensdorf, chapter president, conducted the initiation.

"You can eat it any way you like," were the directions given last Saturday evening when the members of Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained their husbands and escorts at an informal spaghetti supper. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cederdahl, and the after-supper hours were spent

Nurses Group Plans Program

The Licensed Practical Nurses Association, division 3, will meet at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening in the club rooms of the National Bank of Commerce. Included in the program will be a "silent" auction.

Hartley PTA Dads' Night

The March meeting of Hartley PTA will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night at the school. The meeting and program will be under the direction of the fathers, who also will serve as hosts during the social hour.

John Janacek will be program chairman assisted by Boyd Rooney, and the program will include a talk by a representative of station KOUN-TV, and the appearance of a group of finalists in the Miss Lincoln contest.

The annual fun night program of the group was held Friday evening at the school. Following a "chuck wagon" dinner in the cafeteria, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. O'Neill and Mrs. Neal Holmes, the "Golden Horseshoe" opera was presented in the auditorium with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett as chairmen.

The western theme was used in the concessions and games. General chairmen for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williford, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert DeBore, Mrs. K. L. Schneider, Mrs. Robert Collman and Miss Eleanor Swanson.

Other chairmen were Mrs. Paul Lange, Mrs. Jacob Schaefer, Mrs. Harry Schneider, Mrs. Darrel Learned, Mrs. Curtis Elliott, Mrs. A. F. Dunekacke, Mrs. P. T. Mills, Mrs. T. C. Eichelberger, Mrs. William Springer, Mrs. C. D. Larson, Mrs. Lumir Ripa, Mrs. Lynn May, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. Donald Eire, Mrs. Verne Zink, Mrs. Aldrich Yokoun, Mrs. Everett Owens, Mrs. Cecil Davis, Mrs. William Coil, Mrs. Lester Sherman, Mrs. Jack Eiland, Mrs. Charles Weaver, Mrs. E. Schultz, Jr., Mrs. Marilyn Huber and Mrs. K. L. Schneider.

TO BE FALL BRIDE

MISS VIRGINIA MAE SALLASKA

Announcement is made this morning by Mrs. Minnie Sallaska of Fairview, Okla., of the engagement of her daughter, Virginia Mae, of Lincoln, to Ronnie R. Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Sutton of Waverly.

An early autumn wedding is planned.

MRS. WAYNE STEINMEYER

On Sunday afternoon, March 17, the marriage of Miss Helen May of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross May of Kearney, to Wayne Steinmeyer, son of Mrs. Marie Steinmeyer of Clatonia, took place at the Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church in Lincoln. The Rev. Erwin E. Mindt of Clatonia read the lines of the 3 o'clock service before a background of pink snapdragons and white stock, combined with greenery. Dale Underwood, organist, played the wedding music, and also accompanied Miss Joan Hiatt and Charles Day, the vocalists.

Wearing identically styled costumes were the attendants, Miss Phyllis May of Grant who was her sister's maid of honor and who wore a powder blue shade; and Miss Bernice Steinmeyer, the bridesmaid and sister of the bridegroom, who appeared in a shell pink tone. With their cotton frocks, designed in the princess mode and patterned with narrow bands of tucked lace, they wore white pillbox hats and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

Kenneth Miller of Clatonia served Mr. Steinmeyer as best man, and the ushers were William May of Kearney, brother of the bride; Ed Heller and Robert Krauter, both of Clatonia.

For her wedding the bride chose an afternoon frock in the navy blue tone, designed on princess lines. Chalk white, contouring the portrait neckline of the smoothly sculptured, brief-sleeved bodice, extended into a front panel the full length of the sheath skirt and was repeated in the pillbox hat which completed her ensemble. She carried a white Bible ornamented with white carnations.

Mr. Steinmeyer and his bride, following a reception in the church parlors, left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will reside near Clatonia.

MRS. DALE McCONNELL

For the wedding of Miss Karen Shaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shaffer of Holdrege, and Dale McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick McConnell, also of Holdrege which took place on Sunday evening, March 17, the chancel of the First Presbyterian Church in Holdrege was appointed with arrangements of white gladioli, against a background of lemon leaves, and lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra entwined with ivy. The 7:30 o'clock candlelight service was solemnized by the Rev. Ronald H. Bean, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. R. E. Sennett, organist. Mrs. Sennett also accompanied the vocal soloist, Eldon Surface.

Mrs. Larry Miller of Lincoln, as the matron of honor; Miss Janet Mosley of Ong; Miss Norma Sutton and Miss Barbara Viren, the bridesmaids, appeared in alike sheath frocks in the green tone. The bodices were caught snugly into wide cummerbunds beneath which bouffant overskirts flared to hem-length. Each carried a crescent bouquet of lemon leaves. Miss Peggy McConnell and Kenton Shaffer lighted the candles, and Annette White was the flower girl. Jimmy Gessford carried the rings.

LaVern McConnell served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Larry Miller of Lincoln, Jack White and Roger Allmand.

Chantilly lace and tulle fashioned the gown chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice of lace, designed with a deep yoke of illusion which created an off-shoulder effect, narrowed to a slender waist beneath which the bouffant skirt was paneled in front with tiers of ruffled tulle, and was completed with a cathedral train. A tiara of pearls and rhinestones held in place her veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. McConnell and his bride left for a brief honeymoon trip. For traveling Mrs. McConnell wore a biege sheath frock, with beige duster and matching accessories.

Mr. McConnell leaves almost immediately for military service and will be joined by his bride upon her graduation from the Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing where she is a senior.

Was Honored At Shower

Honored guest at a pink and blue shower on Thursday evening was Mrs. Sanford Porter. Hostesses, Mrs. William Fenton and Mrs. William Rolfsmeier, entertained 10 guests at the Rolfsmeier home.

HAD CHURCH SERVICE

MR. AND MRS. BUSTER BAXTER

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Baxter was an event of Sunday, March 3, and the ceremony was solemnized at the Christian Church in Weeping Water. The Rev. Victor Swartz read the lines of the 3 o'clock service, which was followed by a reception in the church parlors.

The bride is the former Miss Dixie Ruth Shrader, daughter of Mrs. Mont Shrader of Avoca.

Mr. Baxter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Baxter of Chickasha, Okla.

The couple will make their home in Lincoln at 230 So. 26th.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

It's a three ring circus of news again this Monday morning as we glance at the program of our tri-suburbs, Cotner Terrace, Northeast Heights, and Pershing Heights. Featured this week we have several farewell courtesies which are being extended to a soon-to-be-departing neighbor, a bridge club get together, and news of travelers.

COTNER TERRACE

Much of our news this morning revolves around a very popular Mrs. in the neighborhood, Mrs. Phillip Beaumont who is soon to be leaving Cotner Terrace, in Germany. Capt. Beaumont left two weeks ago for his new duty station, and Mrs. Beaumont and her two children, Sallie and John, will be departing in a week and a half for Worcester, Mass. to visit Mrs. Beaumont's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Loigren, before going to Europe.

In recent courtesy to Mrs.

Beaumont, Mrs. C. J. Hamilton was hostess to the members of her neighborhood bridge club at a dessert supper and farewell party last Wednesday evening. Included in the group were Mrs. Gordon Ware, Mrs. Robert Culwell, Mrs. C. L. Tetherow, Mrs. Jack Carper, Mrs. Clifford Pratt, Mrs. Boyd Ready, and of course, Mrs. Beaumont. During the informal evening a group gift was presented to the guest of honor.

Air Force ROTC instructors wives have made table reservations for the style show at the Inter Com Club next Wednesday afternoon, at which time Mrs. Beaumont will again be honored. The group will include Mrs. Carter Duncan, Mrs. Dale Carstensen, Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. Charles Arpke, Mrs. Dean Foster of the Park Manor suburb, and Mrs. Clifford Pratt and Mrs. Gordon Ware, both of Cotner Terrace, and a farewell gift will be presented to Mrs. Beaumont.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Northeast Heights news this morning concerns a bridge club gathering Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Darrel Moreland will be hostess at her home. Membership includes Mrs. Gerald Goeres, Mrs. Ted Fontaine, Mrs. Charles Hines, Mrs. Jack Ketterer, and Mrs. John Voss. At the close of the afternoon a dessert luncheon will be served.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Learned from Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Allison that their son, Ron, left last Tuesday for Army Security School in Ft. Devos, Mass. Ron had been home on leave and the Sunday before his departure the family motored to Union to visit Mrs. Allison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong.

Travelers over this past week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Van Tyler and their three sons, John, David, and Gerry, who were visiting in Callaway at the home of Mr. Tyler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Tyler.

LWC GROUP ELECTS

New officers were elected at the meeting of the Lincoln Woman's Club life division last Thursday afternoon when the members met for a dessert luncheon at the club house. Leaders of the group for the coming year will be Mrs. H. E. McCormick, division leader (seated), and standing, Mrs. W. H. Osborne, treasurer (left), and Mrs. Anna M. Crowley, secretary. Not included in the picture is Mrs. Guilford Abbott, assistant leader.

Red Cross Program

On Thursday, March 14, a recognition ceremony for Gray Ladies was held at the State Mental Hospital auditorium at 10 o'clock. Mrs. F. D. Coleman, chairman, presided and Dr. Franklin Spradling was speaker.

Honored for five years service with the unit were Mrs. C. E. Vanderzee, Mrs. O. E. Bouwsma and Mrs. Fred Stevens, and the following 16 Gray Ladies received two or three year service stripes: Mrs. Lulu Brown, Mrs. Encl Chambers, Mrs. Donald Devries, Mrs. Ralph Dowell, Mrs. Clarence Emerson, Mrs. Paul Gillan, Mrs. E. B. Heller, Mrs. Owen Hitchins, Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, Mrs. Loren Nelson, Mrs. Paul Nylander, Mrs. William Siegrist, Mrs. Ward Simpson, Mrs. Fred Stevens, Mrs. Vanderzee and Mrs. J. A. Nelson.

Receiving pins for 40 hours service were Mrs. Chambers, Mrs. Heller, Mrs. Charles Flansburg, Mrs. Nylander, Mrs. William Rolfsmeier and Mrs. E. B. Stewart, and training certificates were awarded to Mrs. Van Ashmun, Mrs. Everett Green, Mrs. H. H. Heumann, Mrs. Flansburg, Mrs. Rolfsmeier and Mrs. Stewart.

Out Of The Mud

Farmers and city folk alike would benefit through repeal of what is known as the Schroeder Mail Route Act, distributing a generous portion of gasoline tax to the counties for improvement of rural mail routes.

The most severe critic of the Mail Route Act should not criticize its author for a lack of sincerity, Schroeder's original intent, he said, was "to get the farmer out of the mud." The author seems to think the job has been accomplished satisfactorily, in which case there is no need for leaving the measure on the statute books indefinitely when the funds it earmarks could be used so well for other purposes at this time. But we doubt the measure was the success its author believes it to be. It would have been a better law amended in the beginning to add common sense features to it then but in that particular session to suggest even so much as dotting an "i" or crossing a "t" was to be a bitter, uncompromising critic of the objectives of the legislation. This paper urged that the bill not be passed. It knows of no reason why it should not be repealed, notwithstanding the support for it, which put in a very vocal appearance at a hearing on Senator Bixler's repeal bill.

The Problem Of Teachers

In the best judgment of the State Board of Education Nebraska will have a 30 per cent turnover in its school teachers this year.

Albeit this is a dramatic statement, it is not a novel one. Teaching in recent years varies from other callings in terms of high turnover. At present the state board estimates that 2,358 of those who taught in Nebraska in 1955 are no longer teaching in Nebraska. Some have entered other fields, some have chosen domestic life, some are practicing their educational calling in other states.

In any other business such a turnover of upper echelon people would be the cause of urgent and far-reaching reforms. And certainly in any rational approach to more economical and improved education a longer tenure is a must for teachers. It is a matter of moment when a state defrays the costs of higher education for teachers the most of whom will apply it from one to five years and when something more than 2,500 drop out of the field every year.

Manifestly the teaching establishment needs a first rate making over. The position of the teacher in the community, his opportunity for advancement within his field, his pay and indeed almost everything about it could stand a penetrating inquiry. And one suspects that one of the great drawbacks is the lack of opportunity for growth and advancement in a field that has been held too cloistered.

Exploring Farm Relief

Critics point out and the beneficiaries, who are the farmers themselves, are quick to agree that federal drought relief and surplus programs which contain few effective long range remedies and concern themselves with the expedient of picking up the check for a part of the loss are an undesirable form of aid.

In part such criticism can be logically leveled at such agricultural creations as the soil bank program which endeavors to subsidize non-production as a means of getting rid of temporary national food surpluses. The cost and sterility of such practices lead to no new and better eras.

Rather they tend to extend and continue faults that better were eliminated.

It was heartening, therefore, that Agriculture Secretary Benson in his recent report on agriculture extended his thinking into new and challenging fields. He asked that thought be given to the extension of industry into the agricultural states—a means of providing side income through earnings outside the field of crop production. This is not a new idea. Middle West states are active in the promotion of that sort of diversification. But the impact of federal support unquestionably would expand the current rate of success.

Mr. Benson also suggested that the agricultural states' tax programs be re-fashioned so that lower levies would induce conversion of sub-marginal land back to grazing. He believes a great deal could be accomplished toward the goal of agricultural health through a review of tax levies. He also spoke of the attractiveness of expanded soil and water conservation programs. There is little question but that those great programs have always fostered regional economic recovery. The improvements to an area are well illustrated by the TVA.

It might also be added that a decided improvement could be effected through the soil bank program where acreages presently set aside for nonproduction would be diverted to new types of production. It is fine to rest the soil and to attend to conservation measures but it is also true that when the period of rest is over that same land, strengthened by its rest, is most apt to return to former types of production and heighten the problem of surplus. Set-aside programs that, for instance, divert corn land into profitable field seed production brings satisfactory income to the operator and clears the corn surplus picture.

Felled By Ourselves

It is disappointing both to Alaska and to the United States that the Aluminum Company of America has withdrawn its plans to build a $400 million hydro-electric dam in the Yukon. A project of great economic significance has been abandoned.

It is worth noting that the company did not discard its plans for business reasons. It was the result of a bad piece of statecraft 48 years ago. The United States forced upon Canada at that time a doctrine governing rivers serving two nations that the upstream owners possessed full discretion in the use and diversion of the water. It was the same policy the United States asserted in respect to the Rio Grande where downstream Mexico was concerned.

In this present case the Yukon River, source of water for the projected dam, belongs to Canada and to have made the dam possible on U.S. soil the stream would have had to be diverted into the Alaskan Panhandle. It is a poor policy that will not work both ways and in this case the U.S. had to give up its badly needed dam. This is something U.S. statecraft needs to keep in mind the next time it is tempted to sit down and bargain to its advantage with a neighbor.

Sabre Rattling

Secretary of State Dulles' principal contribution to the third annual session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Council was a period of sabre rattling. He let the representatives in on the fact that American forces almost everywhere are armed with atomic weapons. He viewed the SEATO as a growing concern because Communist propaganda is attacking it forcefully.

We don't know what the Southeast Asia people made of it, but on the cold record it appeared that sword brandishing is to be our contribution. Perhaps Southeast Asia will not have to fight in our time, but it must live every day and solve any number of vexing economic and social problems. As much or more than our bombs, that in part of the world needs our aid and know-how in building progressive economies and better social conditions.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Its heart may be pure gold, but if it is to provide an intelligent leadership for the American people, then the United States Chamber of Commerce leaves a lot to be desired. Here is its president, John S. Coleman, warning the American people that the nation is facing "a critical state of affairs." If we are smart, smart as we should be, we will lose no time in cutting away the fat.

That advice which the head of the United States Chamber of Commerce offers is at best a trifle belated. Here were the nation's voters trudging to the polls as recently as last November with the slogan of "peace and prosperity" ringing in their ears as a part of the passionate appeal to retain the Eisenhower administration in office. Now, what has happened since those early November days? The Middle East crisis, relegated to the background briefly, flared up to raise fears of an impending war over the rich oil resources of that region. It is still threatening—perhaps not as critically as it was—perhaps there has been little to change the basic division in that old region. But in November in terms of leadership the United States Chamber of Commerce gave unfaltering support to the Eisenhower slogan of peace and prosperity and here five and a half months later it expects the American people to take it seriously when it gives grim warning that the United States is facing "a critical state of affairs." The chamber and its officials are doing this country a real disservice if they expect the American people to take them seriously. By their partisanship, in the period of a few months the chamber and those who speak for it have sacrificed the public's confidence.

Before election all was well, the Lord was in His heavens, and we had like to thank for peace and prosperity. Now, a matter of less than two months after Ike was inaugurated for a second term, the chamber wants us to understand spending by the administration poses a chilling threat to the American people. It is a little bit more than they should be called upon to assimilate. On top of the world one day, figuratively, and on the death's door the next. Now, all of this is in the tradition of American politics as we have come to know it, but some day our escape from the curse of a leadership that can be one thing in November and another the following March will take its full toll. We do not deserve to escape paying the price of that kind of leadership.

There has been a little bit more of this than it has been possible to see in America in years—a little bit more under Ike—and understandably so. Criticism of the President was classified as "un-thinkable." All he had to do was to smile and when he smiled, the American people melted. There was nothing in his first four years in office beyond the uneasy peace of Korea that contributed a brilliance to his record—actually there were two or three developments that in due time will be classified as sickening mistakes—but in this carefully manufactured adulation in which so many prominent leaders and so many powerful organizations join, there was created in the image of Ike a towering giant quite beyond and above his capacity. Now things seem to be busting out at the seams. Things are developing of a threatening nature. They are not the product of a day or the last eight weeks, much as those around Ike would like to make them appear. They have been gathering momentum from the day the President took his oath of office in early January of 1953. He has done nothing to restrain the forces which now threaten, and which set the teeth of the president of the United States Chamber of Commerce to chattering while he calls to his associates to guard against the evil day.

Peace and prosperity. Whoever thought the day would arrive when we had too much prosperity—so much prosperity that we had to guard against it—and embark upon heroic measures in order to save us from it? There is prosperity with a vengeance.

Early Hoffa Probe Ended In A Trade

WASHINGTON — There is one man who's laughing up his sleeve at the midnight arrest of Teamsters Boss Jimmy Hoffa for allegedly trying to bribe an agent of the Senate Rackets Committee. He is cantankerous Congressman Clare Hoffman of Michigan, who started a probe of Hoffa and the Teamsters three years ago, but was abruptly and unceremoniously stopped by none other than a member of the Eisenhower cabinet, Postmaster General Summerfield.

Congressman Hoffman, Republican, together with Wint Smith, of Kansas, Republican, and Phil M. Landrum of Georgia, Democrat, were investigating the Teamsters, when suddenly word came from the White House via GOP House Leader Charley Halleck of Indiana to call off the probe.

Hoffman was so irked that he made a speech on the House floor complaining that his subcommittee on labor racketeering and welfare funds "had but barely entered upon its investigation when apparently for political reasons it was liquidated." Rep. Smith also complained to newsmen. After the hearing on Detroit labor racketeering closed, Smith stated that it was being terminated because of "pressure."

"Where does the pressure come from?" Smith was asked.

"From so high," Smith told newsmen, looking at the ceiling, "that I can't even discuss it."

DEAL WITH TEAMSTERS

Inside fact, as revealed by this column April 13, 1954, was that high Republicans in Michigan, led by Postmaster General Summerfield, made a deal with the Teamsters to support Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election. In return, investigation of Hoffa and the Teamsters was dropped.

Ferguson in 1954 faced a tough re-election battle with the late ex-Sen. Blair Moody, Democrat, running against him. Moody died in the middle of the primary campaign, and Pat McNamara, a long-time member of the Detroit city council and a strong AFL leader, was nominated. In the final election, McNamara, to the surprise of everyone, defeated Ferguson.

Hoffman's probe of the Teamsters had just begun to strike pay dirt when "those on high" intervened. He was looking into alleged Teamster locals; also pressure on automatic car-wash employers to make payoffs; also in property acquired by Hoffa's wife and Mrs. Bert Brennon, wife of another Teamster chief, after Hoffman and Brennon had settled a strike in Flint, Mich.

Power Saw Nets A Lovely Whazzit

You've never seen such a piece of furniture as now graces our living room, thanks to the new power saw in our basement. Even my wife agrees that this piece of furniture is priceless. She says I wouldn't have nerve enough to set a price on it, and nobody else would be fool enough. She has agreed to leave it in the living room for three days, just in case someone can accidentally discover a use for it there.

It is really a graceful thing, standing there on its five and a half legs, with its mitered, three-sided slanting top and its eight corners. If the worst comes to the worst and it proves unsuitable even for use as a back yard barbecue, where you can use almost anything, there is one possibility left for it. I'll name it "Soul's Sunrise" and enter it in a modern art exhibit.

This piece of furniture is a solid symbol of the amazing things even unskilled hands can do with a home style power saw. It is also a result of extensive reading in books on wood working, with particular attention to the use of the saw. It might have been better if I had done the reading first and planned to acquire the saw second, because then I could have abandoned the second plan.

As it was, though, I bought the saw in a moment of enthusiasm and read the books in hours of diminishing confidence.

"These books," I told Mrs. F., "scare me. I had not realized it before, but in order to operate one of these revolving table saws, a man needs thorough grounding in mathematics, nuclear physics, forestry and ballistics. I do not think I am qualified."

Mrs. F. said she could have told me that before I bought the saw, but now that I had it, I'd better figure out some way to get my money back out of it. "The least you could do," she said "is to make me a plaque to hang on the wall and hold my carving knives and forks. That should be simple enough."

From such a humble beginning grew the piece of furniture in our living room. It started out to be a flat board in the shape of a shield, with pieces glued across it to hold the knives and forks. The first bit of trouble was that when I got the shield cut out it was in two pieces. This was because I got the board started through for one short cut and was afraid to stop it. "It will make a nice box of some kind," I told myself. "Maybe a jewel case." For the rest of that day I proceeded on the assumption that I was manufacturing a jewel case.

Returning to the project the following evening, however, a fresh look revealed that this had been a forlorn idea all along. I had forgotten to provide a top that would open. I consulted with Mrs. F., but she said boring holes in it to drop her trinkets through wouldn't do any good. As well as getting jewelry into a jewel case, she pointed out, you had to be able to get it out.

"Well," I said with a shrug that admitted temporary defeat, "maybe if I put legs on it, it would look like something."

She said legs certainly couldn't hurt it. I'll bet I've invented something, if only somebody would tell me what.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Too Much Sunshine Danger Of Meeting

HAMILTON, Bermuda — In the conference to be held on this tiny resort island there is both a great opportunity and a great danger.

When President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan sit down together, the opportunity is obvious enough. It is to confront realistically the major outstanding differences that have weakened the relationship between the two principal partners in the western alliances.

They cannot be expected to resolve those differences in four days. The division, particularly over the Middle East, is too deep for that. But they will have achieved a great deal if they can prepare the way for later negotiations looking to eventual agreement.

The danger is that the cracks in the alliance will be papered over with the familiar gesture of good will. This will give the impression that all is well. Then, when new trouble breaks out, neither Washington nor London will be prepared for it and public opinion in the two countries will be shocked to find that the all-is-well atmosphere generated in Bermuda was false.

When heads of state come together, there is always a tendency to spread sunshine. By temperament, a determined optimist, President Eisenhower invariably minimizes disagreement. Macmillan's government is hard-pressed at home and he needs to demonstrate that America and Britain are still working partners.

But with the best will in the world, it will hardly be possible to look around the chief obstacle to Anglo-American harmony. That obstacle is President Gamal Abdel Nasser and his control of the Suez Canal.

Macmillan wants to bring American and British policy into harmony on Egypt and the Middle East. That is another way of saying the Prime Minister hopes to get the President to agree on measures to be taken if Nasser continues to assert arbitrary authority over the canal.

At that point the Eisenhower administration will have to fish or cut bait, since such a request comes up against the American desire to hold the friendship of the Arab world at almost any cost.

This is a sore point in opinion in Britain, generating the anti-American sentiment that is real enough today. Even in government there is a hangover of the bitter feeling generated in November when the United States voted with Soviet Russia in the United Nations to censure Britain, France and Israel.

A resolution tabled in the House of Commons by right-wing members of the Conservative party, which was in effect a vote of no confidence in the American policy, still stands. When Laborite members of the Parliament taunted the Macmillan government with this resolution, a half-hearted attempt was made to explain why the resolution had not been withdrawn.

The real reason, of course, is that the right-wingers, whose support is essential if Macmillan is to stay in power despite a widespread loss of voter strength, feel almost as bitter as they did in November when angry critics were heard accusing America of letting down her oldest friend and ally.

JESUS LOVED THEM

Bartholomew

Bartholomew was one of the Apostles whose life story has been lost to us during the centuries that have passed since he was first called by Jesus to be one of the Twelve.

A number of authorities believe he is the same person as Nathanael, mentioned in the Gospel of John, (1:45-51).

This opinion is based on the fact that Bartholomew is not a proper name, but merely served to identify him as the son of Tolmai.

Moreover, the name Bartholomew is never mentioned in the Gospel according to John. But in the latter Evangelist's list of Apostles, Nathanael is the name given in the place accorded to Bartholomew in the other three Gospels.

Scholars reason, therefore, that John may have referred to him by his given name, where the other three Gospel writers followed the Hebrew custom of calling him the son of Tolmai.

It was Philip who first told Nathanael of Jesus. And, John relates, Nathanael replied somewhat contemptuously, "Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

But upon first seeing Jesus, Nathanael followed Him as readily as the other disciples, declaring "Rabbi, thou art the Son of God."

According to traditions of the early Church, Bartholomew became a missionary to the East, preaching in Mesopotamia, Persia, Egypt and Armenia.

Legends say he was martyred in Albanopolis, Armenia. The manner of his death is variously reported as

"And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles; Simon, (whom he also named Peter,) and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, . . . — Luke VI:13,14 having been crucifixion, beheading, and being flayed alive.

The immortal Michelangelo apparently inclined to the latter story, for in his famous painting, "The Last Judgment," a flayed Bartholomew is shown holding his own skin in his hand.

Wet In Washington

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Here, we have been thinking it was too dry, but in Washington D.C. it is too wet it seems. The dries and clerics are up in arms; they don't like the cocktail parties in the Senate office building. Some of us think a drinking man should not be allowed to drive an automobile, so it may be just as dangerous to have drinking men making our laws. We all have noticed the confusion and muddle in Washington, but had forgotten about the bar our distinguished leaders built, just across the street from Congress.

M. S. DAILY

What They Got

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have just read the letter of NFO Member of Seward, Neb. (People Speak March 15), giving the plight of the farmer and how he is discriminated against in a business way. What is said in that letter is true. Today the dry land farmer is hard pressed, after two near crop failures, and another staring them in the face. The town people know prosperity of Nebraska as well as that of Kansas and North and South Dakota depends entirely upon the prosperity of the farmers.

It is the products from the farms that are sold outside of the state and the money the farmers receive that keep the business houses open and gives employment to the population that works for a living. If there were no farmers in Nebraska, the state would be in the same class as the state of Nevada. Nebraskans are depending upon the farmers whether they know it or not.

However, the farm population is greatly to blame for the plight it finds itself today. In this country the people get just the kind of government they vote for. We would have it no other way. When the people find that the candidate they helped to elect has no interest in their welfare, it is time they changed when he comes up for re-election.

Now let's take a look at the records. During Wilson's administration many laws were passed that benefited the farmers and common people. Farmers were prosperous as never before up to 1920 when Harding was elected President. We who were here at that time remember what happened especially to the farmers as soon as Harding took over the government, but the majority voted to continue that same policy by electing Coolidge and Hoover and wound up with the worst panic in the history of the country. In 1932 a majority elected F. D. Roosevelt. He stopped the panic the first day he became President. He gave the people a new deal and had more laws passed to benefit the farmers than had been passed during all the administrations before him.

In 1940, 10 states were carried by Willie and Roosevelt carried 38 states. Of the 10, six states that received the most benefits—Nebraska, Colorado, North and South Dakota and Iowa cast their votes for Willie, and against the man who had battled their case through Congress and made farming a profitable business and gave them luxuries that they had never enjoyed before. They turned against him and their own best interest and they have been doing the same ever since, and finally got the change they had been voting for in 1952. Now they have the change and they don't like it. But they have four years to go before they have a chance to vote for a change.

Up to 1940 we had several Democratic Governors and the approriations to run the state government for 1939-40 were $54,717,742.

The average increase in each of the eight bienniums since was $20,000,000. For 1956-57 the state budget was $214,904,572 and still going up. Is there any wonder the taxpayers are kicking about taxes? The way to keep your taxes going higher is to keep on voting as you, or the way the majority has been voting for the past 16 years.

Redistricting Problems

Western, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A notice appeared in one of our local papers stating that on March 26 the rural parents would be forced to vote on whether they wish to redistrict their schools. I say "forced" because most of us thought we had made it understood that, under the present conditions, we wished to remain as we were.

A meeting was held here some months ago. Six schools had been asked to redistrict; one was left out. The one left out was closest to town, open, and holding school. At this meeting, many opposed redistricting, some had petitions signed by the whole district in opposition. The questions that were asked were answered only vaguely. Transportation was promised but nothing specific offered. We wanted to know if the old broken-down school bus would be used, or if parents would be paid transportation costs. A driver cannot operate a vehicle for less than 10 cents a mile, and with youngsters both in kindergarten and the grades, this could amount to between $4 and $5 a day.

Why isn't the school closest to town included in the redistricting? The answer was that they didn't want to transfer. We had previously been told that we would have to send our children as far as Grand Island, if we did not vote in favor. This would make a long drive for District 95.

This article also stated that teachers could be hired more cheaply if redistricting took place. How can this be? We of rural schools pride ourselves on hiring the best possible available teachers, not the cheapest we can find. Is it true that the Western school has been condemned for years? If so, when does the town intend to make the necessary repairs? After the redistricting?

It is known that the Western school is crowded now, the average grade teacher having 20 to 30 pupils. If each of the six rural schools has an average of 10 pupils each, this would increase the grades 60 pupils, or 20 pupils more for each grade teacher, who has three grades.

So far, we can't see where or how we could possibly better ourselves or our children by redistricting. There isn't any improvement at this time that could possibly be made by closing the doors on our rural, uncrowded, well-staffed schools. We were sure this was understood at that last meeting. Obviously we are supposed to be "dumb farmers" who just fall in with such one-sided affairs.

Where is our state redistricting committee? It is hard to believe that intelligent people would favor closing good clean rural schools, when pupils of rural schools are so obviously more advanced in their work than those of city schools.

Future Of State's Road Program Will Spotlight Week In Legislature

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

The future of Nebraska's progress in road building including the Interstate Highway program will be spotlighted in the legislature this week.

And the outcome, whatever it is, may have a permanent effect on the state both as to transportation and economy.

Many viewers of the proposed road programs have stated Nebraska is at the "crossroads" and "point of no return" in road building and planning. And the main factor involved in this planning is finances.

This will be the focal point of a legislative hearing, scheduled for Thursday, in the form of LB 375. The bill does two things:

Increases the state tax against gasoline from 6 to 7 cents and changes the allocation to the counties and the state.

Counties Same, State More

The proposed new proportion would give the counties about the same amount of money they now receive. The state, though, would materially benefit from the increased funds.

And although it sounds insignificant, an increase in gasoline taxes of one cent would have a profound effect on state road building and improvement. It would, for one thing, permit the full participation of the state in the Interstate Highway program.

HOW LEADING HOSPITAL STOPS SORE THROAT PAIN FAST

Amazing new iodine gargle soothes, helps heal inflamed tissue

Science now releases world's greatest germ killer in safe, pleasant gargle form for throat infections!

Doctors in leading hospital have discovered new, fast relief for painful sore throat with revolutionary new type iodine gargle. In clinical tests on hundreds of patients suffering from worst sore throat pain, more than 9 out of 10 obtained fast relief. Doctors said, "Results were dramatic!"

First used in babies' throats under doctors' supervision it quickly stopped the dreaded throat infection, "thrush". The secret is a remarkable scientific advance—detoxifying iodine to make it safe yet potent to use.

N. Rens, Nebraska must have at least an additional $4.7 million to match all available funds by June 30, 1959. Almost the entire amount would be directed toward Interstate construction.

$44 Million Per Year

In a program recently announced, the State Highway Department said it was embarking on a building program calling for expenditure of $44.2 million a year for the next two years.

This would be $19 million more a year than the present building rate of around $25 million. With the Interstate tossed in, it would be $31 million more a year for the total capable construction capacity of $168 million in three years.

STAN DELAPLANE'S POSTCARD

Greyhounds guided tour of Mexico rolls back across the border about noon.

It is a nostalgic moment. On one side the land of manana.

Ahead, the land where you can drink tap water and eat the lettuce. Where they put free Kleenex in the bathroom, the plumbing works and all the movies are about the good guys vs. the bad guys.

So I must dust down to the El Paso movie. To eat the popcorn and watch a mean-looking varmint a-rustin' cow critters. Until the good guy whips out his pistol, announcing he is "the fastest gun alive." Bingo!

Well, according to the stories, the fastest gun alive was John Wesley Hardin of Texas.

John Wesley had just rolled four sixes in an El Paso saloon one day in 1892. A Mr. John Selman walked in, possibly the slowest gun alive. However, he put his big slow gun to the back of John Wesley's noggin and pulled the trigger. Making John Wesley the dearest gun alive.

I took a cab out to the S. D. Myres shop. Mr. Sam Myres used to make the fastest gun holsters in the world. And his son, Mr. Bill, carries on the good work.

"From what I have heard—what I heard my daddy say," said Mr. Bill, "John Wesley Hardin was the first man ever wore a spring shoulder holster.

"Now what I heard was he made that holster himself. Took the spring out of a horse collar."

Mr. Bill and his daddy invented dazzling and probably a little out of the scope of imagination. But the tremendous increase potential in construction means more employment and job security.

Unclogging Highways

It also means unclogging highway congestion and the possible elimination of many deaths resulting from jammed highways.

Rens and even Gov. Victor Anderson have repeated on several occasions statements to the effect that the state highway program would not be slighted in favor of the Interstate. This means the announced two-year program recently released by the Highway Department will be carried through in its entirety.

Funds now also are available for partial construction of segments of the interstate, with the Millard-Gretna link—first in the state—possibly up for bids in May.

Short $7.5 Million

But, according to Engineer Rens, the state will be short $7.5 million in matching funds at all levels by June of 1959. In a recent hearing before the Budget Committee of the Legislature, Rens placed the emphasis on immediate action.

The program is "so big," Rens said, that "if you ever get behind you will never catch up."

In its original program, Congress set up plans for the Interstate to coincide with a period of economic slump. Renewed emphasis, though, has put the proposed 41,000-mile highway in the light of a defense need.

Both of these factors are expected to be foremost in the minds of the legislators considering LB 375 this week. And whatever the decision, the effects will be lasting.

the holster used today by the FBI. Also by a good many police departments and he showed me one in the back shop.

It is a low-cut holster that rides on the belt on the right side. Tilted a little forward.

"Made one of these for Jelly Bryce—now he's the FBI agent in Oklahoma City. Now we never knew all the advantages of this holster until Jelly showed us."

"You see Jelly, he was a peace officer on the Oklahoma City force and he killed this famous outlaw—forget his name. That's how Jelly got his name, by the way. This feller laid a-dyin' and he said he didn't mind gettin' killed but he hated to get killed by that Jelly-bean blankety-blank!"

"Well, after he killed this outlaw," said Mr. Bill Myres, "Jelly he got to studying' how he done it, d'you see? And after he studies a couple hours, he figured what he did was this: He hit this feller with his right hand and th'owed his draw off. Same time he reached over with his left hand and drewed his own gun."

"He shifted it to his right hand and shot him in the belly."

Mr. Bill said that Mr. Jelly then came up and told the Myres family what an excellent holster they had.

"With this holster, a man can draw every whichaway," Mr. Myres showed a short-barreled .38 in the holster and demonstrated you could draw either hand and even backwards. Shooting behind you with your thumb pressing the trigger.

The S. D. Myres shop specializes in special holsters. They made the fancy holsters for Gen. George Patton, who wore two pearl-handled guns. They make them for movie good guys and movie bad guys, who must draw fast or not have their options taken up.

If you want a fast gun holster made, you send your personal pistol to S. D. Myres in El Paso. And they build a holster around it. Special.

It just showed me how good the good old U.S.A. is. Back from Mexico, back to the land of milk shakes and movies. Where every red-blooded boy has a chance to become "the fastest gun alive." And Mr. Bill working day and night to help him on his TV way. (McNasht Syndicate, Inc.)

Reds Stir British Refugee Trouble

LONDON (INS) — Communist agents among the Hungarian refugees in Britain are exploiting deteriorating relations between the refugees and their hosts.

The agents have moved into a situation of disenchantment on both sides. Freedom in Britain didn't look so good when the refugees got here as when it was a distant green field.

For their part, the British found that familiarity made many of the refugees look more like lazy ingrates than heroic revolutionaries.

Working inside the refugee group, a handful of Communist agents have done their best to give a bad name to all the refugees—to prove them the kind of no-good characters that would flee from a Communist "paradise."

or hostels, housing more than 14,000 Hungarians in Britain.

Many of the refugees seemed to feel that having taken the first militant step to break up the Soviet satellite bloc, the West should have laid out a red carpet for them.

One refugee put it this way: "Every Hungarian, whatever class he belongs to, thinks he has done for the West what millions of dollars and words could never have done. That is, started the crack of the Eastern bloc. If the West wants to avert a world war, it can only be done by the Eastern bloc being broken up by members of the Eastern bloc. We started the break-up. It is the British Government which should be grateful to us."

Way Station

The greatest complaint of the refugees arises from what most claim was their understanding that they were coming to England only as a way station to permanent destinations in the U.S. or Canada.

It isn't easy to convince them that immigration laws make it unlikely that many of them could be absorbed into the U.S. for some years. Canada has opened her gates more freely, but there are always delays which irk the refugees.

Many of the refugees refuse to take jobs in Britain. To do so, they feel, might jeopardize their chances of going to Canada or the U.S. Language difficulties have greatly intensified the tensions. As a result, lots of refugees have felt isolated and neglected in a strange land.

They're Jewish, She's Catholic—

Couple Refuse To Give Up Child

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A couple who fled Massachusetts rather than obey a court order to give up their adopted child said Sunday they would fight extradition on kidnap charges.

Melvin Ellis, 45, said he and his wife, Frances, 37, came here with six-year-old Hildy McCoy "because Florida is a liberal state. We feel we will be given a fair deal."

Ellis told a Miami Herald interviewer "our only concern is the welfare of Hildy." He charged "none of the many court decisions regarding the custody of Hildy have considered her welfare."

The Ellises are Jewish. Hildy, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie McCoy Doherty of Hingham, Mass., was born into the Catholic faith. The blonde, blue-eyed child has made her home with the Ellises since she was 10 days old.

Hildy Didn't Appear

Hildy—who now attends a private school in Miami Beach, where the Ellises have an apartment—remained in another room while Ellis talked.

"The child has had our love and affection and she has learned to love us," Ellis said.

He said the child's natural mother has indicated she does not want Hildy back.

"She just wants Hildy turned over to a Catholic agency so (the girl) can be adopted by a Catholic family," Ellis said. He said he and his wife have offered to bring up the child as a Catholic "but our offer was refused by her mother."

'I Don't Care'

"I don't care if I go to jail," the slender, be spectacled Ellis said. "The main thing is the girl's happiness, and she wouldn't be happy in a Catholic orphanage or any kind of orphanage."

Ellis's Miami Beach lawyer, said he would personally appeal to Florida Gov. Leroy B. Collins not to permit extradition of the Ellises to Massachusetts.

"In 1955 we knew we had to leave the state (Massachusetts),"

Ellis said. "The Supreme Court ordered us for the fourth time to give the child up, and we knew it would hurt Hildy to be placed in an institution or given to a family that did not love her."

"But we had tried everything first."

Lived Many Places

Ellis said the family flew their home in Brookline, Mass., a Boston suburb, and he gave up a dry cleaning business in order to disappear with Hildy and Mrs. Ellis. He said the Ellises lived in Portland, Maine, Tuckahoe, N.Y.,

Business, Farm Men's Banquet Set

HASTINGS, Neb. — The annual Hastings farmer-businessman banquet will be held Monday, March 25, at the City Auditorium, it was announced by the Hastings Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee.

C. W. Means, vice president of the Stock Yards National Bank of Omaha, will deliver the main address on "Agriculture—A Very Competitive Business." Wally Chaloupka is general chairman for the banquet.

Lodge News—The "Sunday Journal and Star" has it.

Thompsonville, Conn., Scarsdale, N.Y., White Plains, N.Y., New York City and Levittown, Pa., between their departure from Brookline and arrival last May at Miami Beach.

"This is our home now," Ellis said.

"We're not running any more. Miami is to be our home and our child's home."

Whereabouts of the Ellises and Hildy have been unknown to Massachusetts authorities since 1953 until Ellis's efforts to buy an automobile in Miami resulted in a check of his present car's Massachusetts registration.

Ellis and his wife were then located by Miami police. Monday was set for hearing on fugitive charges and released the couple in custody of their lawyer, without setting bail.

Today's biggest bargain

...for just a nickel

Wouldn't it be a tremendous bargain if you could help stop rising prices by simply saving an extra nickel out of every dollar? Well, that bargain is ready and waiting!

If each of us saves that extra nickel, we will put a strong brake on inflation. Because one of the main causes of rising prices is overspending.

These extra nickels will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings... the feeling that your house is in order.

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity—and keeping it sound?

Hruska Sees $2-$3 Billion Budget Cut

By BRUCE BRUGMANN
Star Staff Writer

Sen. Roman Hruska of Omaha predicted Sunday that Congress will pare between two and three billion dollars from the record 72 billion dollar peacetime budget recommended by President Eisenhower.

The reduction, he said, would probably be in the three areas of foreign aid, military expenditures and general government operating expenses.

"The difficulty presently facing us is that of making selective cuts, rather than taking huge, meaty type chunks. There are a number of reductions we can make, which will neither injure our economy or impair our world position."

Hruska, in Lincoln for the Republican Founders Day, will appear Monday at a noon luncheon in the Lincoln Hotel with Sen. Carl Curtis and Reps. Phil Weaver, Robert Harrison and A. L. Miller and Gov. Anderson.

Hruska maintained that no inconsistency existed between the budget which President Eisenhower presented to Congress, and the subsequent requests of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey and the President that Congress make substantial cuts.

Former Nebraskan Praises Clare Booth Luce's Career

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

Miss Letitia Baldrige, featured speaker at the women's luncheon Monday in celebration of Republican Founders Day, will tell her audience about the career of "the most feminine woman in the world."

LETITIA BALDRIGE

The former personal and social secretary of Clare Booth Luce during her period as ambassador in Italy, Miss Baldrige will discuss Mrs. Luce's career "as she completely broke down the existing barriers and won the Italian people."

Miss Baldrige and her mother, Mrs. H. M. Baldrige, wife of the former Congressman from Nebraska, arrived in Lincoln Sunday evening.

Miss Baldrige, now publicity director for Tiffany & Co. of New York City, will speak at Luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club on "Salute to Republican Women."

"Strike Against Her"

"Mrs. Luce had a strike against her because she was a woman," Miss Baldrige explained, "but she overcame it completely. Never has Italy had an ambassador with such extraordinary background and qualifications."

The young woman will also speak briefly at the evening banquet, pointing out that Eisenhower has become "a symbol of honesty and prestige and greatness, which started with his career as military leader and was reinforced during his successful presidency."

"It is nice to have a 'winner,'" she said, "and even the Democrats appreciate the high esteem in which people in western and central Europe hold Eisenhower."

The young woman also credited Ike with "the incredible increase in activity" by Republican women working for the party. "His charm and personal magnetism have captured them," she said.

A woman is no longer just a wife "blindly following her husband's lead in political matters," she stressed. "It is a natural growth since suffrage that women should more actively participate. Today they even have a chance for office."

"There is no resting period between battles" in modern political activity, she emphasized. The modern Republican woman must work constantly to stimulate interest in political affairs, she said.

Miss Baldrige said she reads five newspapers daily, and is active in at least three Republican organizations in New York City.

The former Omaha resident has been a government intelligence officer and social secretary to Ambassador David Bruce in Paris.

State Sales, Income Growth Far Below National Average

Retail sales growth in Nebraska has fallen below the national average, even though retail trade and personal income between 1948 and 1954 increased 21 per cent in the state.

The lag in the state was attributed chiefly to the significant decline in agricultural income, the March review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, which made the study, reported.

The nation's all-time high in retail trade in 1956 was part of a long-term growth pattern evidenced by sales data in the 1954 census of retail trade, the study showed.

Nebraska's growth during the 1948-1954 period was less than that of any state in the Tenth Federal Reserve District, which includes Colorado, Kansas, Wyoming, and parts of Oklahoma, Missouri and New Mexico.

Nebraska's population increase was 7 per cent, compared with national growth figures of 10 per cent.

National growth in sales hit 32 per cent, while personal income growth reach 37 per cent, the study said.

Other Activity

Along with the decline in agricultural income, other types of economic activity in Nebraska did not expand as rapidly as in some of the district states. Manufacturing employment increased only 18 per cent between 1948 and 1954 as compared with an average gain of about one-third in the district.

Nebraska farm equipment dealers enjoyed higher sales in 1954 than in 1948, while business dropped off 10 to 14 per cent at these stores in Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. However, building materials suppliers experienced a 2 per cent drop in ing newly-requested programs," citing grant-in-aid programs for education, occupational safety and juvenile delinquency as but three which he thought could be eliminated.

Asked how much he would like to cut the budget, Hruska chuckled, and replied, "the bigger the amount the better."

Commenting on the recent defeat of the corn referendum, he said that the vote was affected "by partisanship in a big way."

Farmers Friend

If one checks the voting record, the Nebraska senator continued, it won't be difficult "to find the friends of the Midwestern farmer."

Hruska said the present congressional probe into labor racketeering would probably continue for two more years, and would cover all sections of the country where "improper, illegal or unwarranted" labor activities were suspected.

The charges and countercharges concerning the union's alleged secondary boycott in the Omaha area prompted the request to investigate the Teamsters Union in Nebraska, he asserted.

The Omaha senator said Congress must "refrain from enact-

McConnell Case File Is Under Review . . . Pleads 'No Contest'

Sentencing proceedings for Raymond A. McConnell Jr., 41, editor of The Lincoln Journal, on charges of disturbing the peace of an 18-year-old airman and procuring liquor for him are set for Saturday, March 23.

Lancaster County Judge Herbert A. Ronin continued the McConnell case for one week while he reviews the prosecuting attorney's file on the case.

Just as he was scheduled to go on trial Saturday, McConnell, through his attorney, changed his plea to "nolo contendere" (no contest) to the misdemeanor charges. He previously had pleaded "not guilty."

County Attorney Elmer Scheele has charged that McConnell on Feb. 26 "did disturb the peace and quiet of Robert C. Burkheimer" and "did unlawfully procure and deliver alcoholic liquor, to wit, whiskey, to Robert C. Burkheimer, a minor of 18 years of age."

Burkheimer was identified as a Lincoln Air Force Base airman from Aberdeen, Md.

After McConnell had changed his original plea of innocent to nolo contendere, Scheele read this prepared statement to the court:

"I was informed just this morning by Mr. Devoe that the defendant was going to change his plea.

"Before stating the facts in this case to the court, I should like to say, in fairness to this defendant, that initial reports made by the complaining witness in this case contained certain statements which were unreliable from an evidentiary standpoint and could not be corroborated.

Few Facts

"After a thorough and intensive investigation of this case, the only facts which can be proven by reliable evidence and which served as basis for this complaint are as follows:

"This complaint arose out of an incident which occurred in Lincoln about 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 26, 1957. The complaining witness, A3C Robert C. Burkheimer, of Aberdeen, Md., had been stationed at the LAFB since June 1956. He had met the defendant in Lincoln in December, 1956 and they had been together on several occasions thereafter.

"Recently A3C Burkheimer received his orders for transfer to overseas duty and a 'farewell luncheon' was arranged between the two for 2-26-57. The evidence shows that on that occasion the complaining witness and the defendant were having some drinks together and that the defendant procured and furnished those drinks for A3C Burkheimer who actually, it turns out, was only 18 years of age. However, the evidence also now discloses that A3C Burkheimer had previously led the defendant and others to believe he was over 21 years of age.

"The investigation also shows that during the afternoon and evening following this 'farewell luncheon' on Feb. 26 the defendant and A3C Burkheimer consumed a considerable amount of liquor and about 7:15 p.m. proceeded to get defendant's automobile so that A3C Burkheimer could return to the LAFB to attend a smoker.

Argument

"The investigation further discloses that while the two were walking down O Street toward defendant's car that an argument occurred and continued until they reached a point opposite the alley between O and P Streets on 15th Street and that such argument culminated at that point in a struggle between the two as a result of which the police were called because of the disturbance and the investigation resulting in the filing of these charges was instituted.

"The exact cause of this argument as well as who was the aggressor is disputed and cannot be satisfactorily established by neutral corroborative evidence. As to this phase of the case, it resolves itself into a question of whether to believe the complaining witness or the defendant. The County Attorney's office was prepared and willing to let the Court decide this question in an open and public trial. However, now that a plea of nolo contendere has been entered, the above facts are a fair statement of the undisputed evidence.

"The County Attorney's office is

Ives Hopes Budget Cut By Two Billion

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) said President Eisenhower's proposed budget may be cut by "as much as two billion dollars."

"I hope it will be more," he added.

Ives, who spoke in a filmed interview over a New York TV station, said any possibility of tax cuts depends on how large a reduction is made in the 72-billion-dollar budget.

Proposed State Assistance Cut Attacked

... By Douglas County Welfare Administrator

OMAHA (U)—Philip H. Vogt, Douglas County welfare administrator, charged the governor and the legislature are trying to shift the public assistance burden to Nebraska counties.

He said this could result in a "financial crisis" for the counties. Vogt assailed Gov. Anderson's proposed million dollar cut in state assistance spending and argued against a legislative committee's revision of a suggested law for matching federal welfare aid.

"In the face of increased costs," Vogt said, "the state is deliberately and recklessly reducing its expenditures and transferring the additional obligation to the federal and county governments."

Funds Dropped

During the last 10 years, Vogt said, state funds for public assistance dropped from $7,885,829 a year to $6,848,295, a decline of almost 15 per cent.

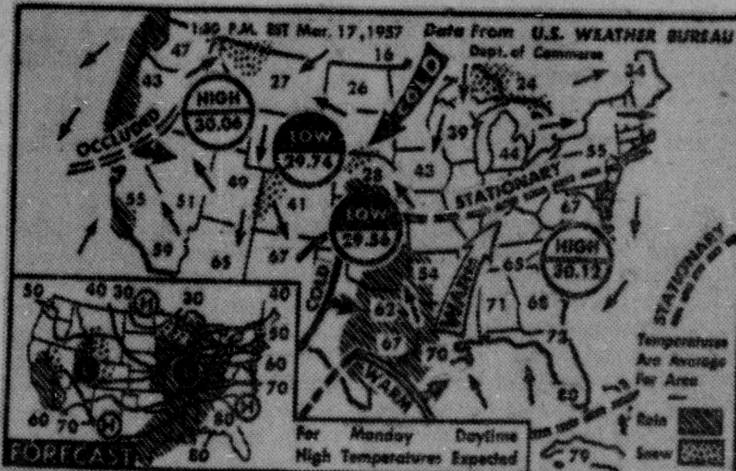

He said federal aid for Nebraska welfare purposes jumped 29 per cent, from $7,355,493 to $9,539,299 a year.

Douglas County's public relief and medical costs almost tripled during the same period, he said, going from $552,840 to $1,554,000 a year.

Although Congress boosted federal matching funds available for the medical care of those on the welfare rolls, Vogt said, a committee of the Legislature has amended the Nebraska Enabling Act to make the counties put up all of the matching money.

"Yet, the state will supervise and control such funds," he added.

Precipitation Expected For Nebraska

Thunderstorm activity was expected from east Texas through the Mississippi Valley. Rain or snow was forecast for the Great Lakes and upper Mississippi Valley Monday, the central and northern Rockies and central plateau. Rain was predicted for central and southern California. Temperatures were to continue mild from Texas to New England while cooler air moves southward through the plains. (AP Wire-photo.)

MISSILE MYSTERY SOLVED

OMAHA (U)—Four boys found an object in Carter Lake and a flurry of activity resulted before the mystery was cleared up. They took it to the municipal airport, where a man was going to hit it with a hammer. Then it was decided to call police.

Rumors got around that maybe a bomb had been lifted from an airliner. Other word was that a guided missile had fallen in the lake.

Police took the object back to the lake and called for a bomb disposal squad from Offutt Air Force Base.

The airmen rubbed off the rust and identified the object as part of an old 75 millimeter artillery shell. They said there was a chance it still would be active, and took it along back to the base.

Danbury Man Charged With Embezzling Co-Op Funds

McCOOK, Neb. (U)—Arraignment has been set for March 29th for a 70-year-old Danbury man charged with embezzling funds from the Danbury Co-operative Credit Association.

Red Willow County Attorney Stan Scott has filed a complaint charging the man, Loyal Parker, on 37 counts of unlawfully embezzling, abstracting and misapplying sums of money ranging from $6 to $1,400. Parker told newsmen: "I am not guilty."

Parker had been secretary, treasurer and cashier of the co-operative credit association prior to its closing more than a year ago by the State Banking Department. Parker had been associated with the Danbury institution for about 20 years.

Bank Short $12,000
Authorities said the bank is allegedly short about $12,000. However Scott said the charges against Parker total a lesser amount. A court-appointed receiver, Earl Horner of Beaver Crossing, is handling dissolution of the bank's assets and liabilities.

The county attorney said information on which the complaint is based came from the State Banking Department, the receiver of the bank and from an independent examination of the bank's books.

Applications For Dairy Scholarship Are Being Taken

Applications are being accepted now for the $2,000 M. N. Lawritson dairy scholarship at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The scholarship, donated by the Cooper Foundation, is given to an incoming freshman, and is divided so the student receives $500 each year during his 4 years of college work.

This is the second year the scholarship has been given, according to P. L. Kelly, chairman of the department of dairy husbandry. Current holder of the scholarship is Robert Paine of Edison, who is a freshman in dairy management.

Persons interested in applying for the scholarship should contact Dr. Kelly, Room 208, Dairy Industry Building, College of Agriculture, Lincoln.

Official: Wilt Was O.C. Target

S A L E M, Ore. (AP) — Al Lightner, referee in the Kansas-Oklahoma City basketball game last night, asserted Sunday night that the Oklahoma City team "violated the code of ethics and the rule book to the very last degree."

Lightner, a referee in the Pacific Coast Conference and sports editor of the Oregon Statesman here, took issue with statements by Coach Abe Lemons of Oklahoma City that the referees were "protecting" Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas center, in Kansas' 81-61 victory in an NCAA playoff at Dallas.

He said the Oklahoma City players were "deliberately dumping Chamberlain. I am not ashamed of any call I made. The only thing I am ashamed of is that perhaps I was not able to catch all the deliberate fouling that was aimed at Chamberlain. I also believe that anyone viewing the motion pictures of that game will come to the quick conclusion that Oklahoma City was out to get Chamberlain."

"Abb Curtis, the Southwest Conference supervisor of officials, came into our dressing room after the game and told us that he had not seen such a display of unethical basketball in years. He was really disturbed. He told us that under the circumstances with which the game was played by Oklahoma City, we did a good job."

"The real trouble seemed to be that Chamberlain and guard Maurice King of Kansas were dark-skinned," said Lightner.

He said that before the game Lemons asserted there would be trouble "if that big nigger piles onto any of my kids."

"I heard a number of the Oklahoma City players referring to Chamberlain and King as 'those niggers,'" Lightner said.

"I didn't ask to go down there," Lightner added. "They asked me to come. I didn't intend going 2,000 miles to fight the Civil War all over again."

In Oklahoma City, Lemons said his only strategy was for his players to get in front of Chamberlain when coming down the court because "he can't turn within 20 feet."

Lemons continued, "I challenge Lightner to look at the game films and see if there were any 'dumping' tactics under the basket."

The OCU mentor said Lightner's comments on Chamberlain's race were "ridiculous."

"You can ask my boys, and I know they never made a statement like that," Lemons said. "I've never called a colored boy a nigger in my life. We've been playing teams with Negroes for years and never had any trouble. That is an unwarranted statement on his (Lightner's) part."

At Dallas, Curtis declined comment but did not deny the statements attributed to him by Lightner although "I may not have said it just like that."

"I'll just leave it like it is," he added.

Stuart's Hit Sparks Bucs

F T. M Y E R S, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates converted five hits into two runs Sunday and defeated the Kansas City Athletics 2-1 in a pre-season exhibition game.

Dick Stuart, the promising Pirate rookie, got into the game as a pinch hitter in the fifth inning, hit a single and scored the Pirates' first run on Johnny Powers' long fly.

Gene Freese scored the winning run in the sixth after opening the inning with a walk. He moved to third on Dick Groat's double and scored on Roman Mejias' sacrifice fly.

KU's Stilt Is Center Of Rhubarb

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

It took from Thanksgiving to St. Patty's Day to do it, but the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. has set up what's certain to be a roof-raising basketball party at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium next Friday and Saturday.

There's a semifinal line-up for the NCAA's championship tournament that couldn't have been better from a billing standpoint had the collegiate fathers hand-picked the representatives.

They've got unbeaten North Carolina, the nation's No. 1 team and, after Saturday's 67-56 defeat of Syracuse, holder of the all-time, one season collegiate record of 30 straight victories. There's Kansas, rated next best to the Tar Heels in the nationwide Associated Press balloting. There's Michigan State, a team that's been sizzling since the mid-term break. There's San Francisco, NCAA champion the last two seasons and rebuilt by Phil Woolpert into a challenger this year despite the graduation of Bill Russell and K. C. Jones.

If that weren't enough to fill the auditorium's nooks and crannies, there's a provocative rhubarb over whether the great Kansas sophomore, All-America Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, has been receiving preferential treatment from game officials.

The four—and the rhubarb over Wilt—are carryovers from Saturday finals at Philadelphia, Lexington, Ky., Dallas and Corvallis, Ore., that wound up the regional phase of the post-season NCAA championship tourney.

North Carolina, which seems always to find the solution in the clutch, turned to the foul line to defeat Syracuse in the Philadelphia regional of the NCAA tourney. The Tar Heels, with All-America Lennie Rosenbush scoring 23 points and team general Tommy Kearns 22, hit on 33 free throws to more than overbalance Syracuse's 24-17 edge from the field.

The Tar Heels face Michigan State in their semifinal test Friday night at Kansas City as a result of the Spartans' 80-68 upset of Kentucky's Southeastern Conference kings in the title game of the Lexington regional. The other Friday pairing is Kansas, an 81-61 winner over Oklahoma City U. at Dallas, versus San Francisco, which won the Corvallis regional by topping California's Pacific Coast Conference champions, 50-46.

Michigan State's victory over favored Kentucky was a comeback for perhaps the year's comeback team. The Spartans, who've won 12 of their last 13 games after a stumbling start, trailed Kentucky by 12 points at the half but rallied to win 80-68. Jack Quigley scored 22 of his 24 points in the second half for Michigan State.

Kansas star Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain scored 30 points against OCU, rebounded brilliantly and blocked several opponent's shots at Dallas but wound up party to charges from Oklahoma City Coach Abe Lemons, who was displeased with the officiating. Lemons said officials were so busy protecting Wilt they didn't watch the other players.

"I can't understand it," Lemons said after the game. "If you touch Chamberlain, it's a foul. But if he touches you, it isn't a foul."

Defense—a Woolpert byword — and the steady shooting of Gene Brown produced San Francisco's victory over California and gave the Dons a shot at their third straight NCAA title. Brown scored 20 points.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Another basketball tournament has come and gone, leaving these impressions:

It was much more quiet this year due to the absence of the large Lincoln bands.

The field of teams was probably the poorest in many a moon, but each class managed to stage some fine battles.

Double A was particularly pathetic this year. But that's not taking anything away from Skip Palrang's Boys Town club.

The Cowboys had a snap and came through with flying colors — not a great club by far, but well-schooled and capable of taking advantage of the other teams' errors.

Classes A and B staged the best shows. The Lexington-Holy Name game was a well-played affair that pitted two outstanding big men, Monte Kiffin of Lex and Bob Eickholt of HN, in a real battle.

Clutch Shooting
And how are you going to top the University High-Geneva contest, for spine-tingling action and tremendous clutch shooting by two fine teams?

Miracle of the year — Omaha Benson beating Fremont.

Surprise of the tourney — two good days of attendance after the storm-wrecked opener.

Leftovers
Mrs. Art Carmody, wife of the North Platte state senator, is a honey of a gal as far as the players are concerned.

She was responsible for five cases of honey being supplied to the lockerrooms so that the contestants could get some quick energy during their games . . .

O. L. (Lee) Webb, former chief of the NSAA, relived some memories during the tournament when Lexington whipped Columbus in the first round. It was just 40 years ago — in 1917 — that Lee coached the Columbus team and came to the tourney. And the Discoverers lost that time, too. . .

Shantz And Grim Blank Cincinnati

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The New York Yankees shut out Cincinnati Sunday, 9-0, as a sellout crowd of 6,932 was entertained with a great hitting and fielding show.

The Redlegs made a triple play in each of the first five innings. Mickey Mantle exploded homers from both sides of the plate and Andy Carey, Yankee third baseman, hit for the cycle, driving in four runs with a single, double, triple and homer.

The triple play came in the third inning after Gil McDougald singled and Mantle was hit on the leg by a pitched ball. Yogi Berra lined to shortstop Alex Grammas who speared the ball near second base, tagged the bag to retire McDougald and then fired to first to get Mantle.

Mantle homered lefty off right-hander Johnny Klippstein with a runner on in the first inning, a 350-foot slide over the left field fence. Lefthander Don Gross was the victim of a 420-foot wallop at the start of the eighth. Bobby Shantz and Bob Grim combined to hurl the shutout.

Point is, all activities connected with high school life are important and valuable, with the state basketball tournament deserving all the attention it can get.

The administrators would be better off to promote it rather than to seek its undoing, since it is one of the most successful prep activities—and carries most for the other activities.

Seattle Soph Sensation Makes NIT Debut Monday

Elgin Baylor And Mates To Face St. Bonaventure In Quarterfinals

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP) — Elgin Baylor, who is supposed to do everything with a basketball except nibble on it, makes his New York debut Monday night in the quarter-finals of the National Invitation Tournament.

The appearance of the 6 foot, 6 inch sophomore star of the top-seeded Seattle University team has created the most anticipation among New York college basketball fans since the first New York appearance of All-America Bill Russell of San Francisco.

Baylor and the other Chieftains, who drew a first-round bye, play St. Bonaventure in the second game of Monday night's double-header. The Bonnies advanced by trouncing Cincinnati 90-72 Saturday night in the last of four first-round tilts.

Memphis State, the darkhorse of the tourney which upset Utah 77-75, meets Manhattan in Monday's first game at 6:30 p.m., CST.

The remaining quarter-finals will be played Tuesday night with second-seeded Bradley meeting Xavier of Ohio and Dayton battling Temple. Xavier whipped Seton Hall 85-79 and Dayton beat St. Peters, N.J. in the other first-round games Saturday.

A total of 22,783 saw the day-night doubleheaders, 7,648 in the afternoon and 15,135 at night.

The last six minutes of the Memphis State-Utah Saturday afternoon national televised game produced dramatics that must have thrilled the TV-viewers. The underdog Tigers lost their star, win Wilfong, on personal fouls with 13 minutes left. But they led until Curt Jensen's one hander put the Utes ahead 68-67 with slightly more than five minutes to go. From then on it was touch and go.

"I'm especially pleased that the boys didn't crack after we lost Wilfong," said Bob Vanatta, Memphis State coach. "(Jack) Butcher and (Bob) Swander did great work and (Orby) Arnold got the rebounds. The boys were a little tense."

One of basketball's smallest players, 5 - 7 Jimmy Boothe, sparked Xavier to its victory over Seton Hall. The Musketeers from Cincinnati led 42-35 at halftime, fell behind 69-68 late in the second half, then came on again. Four straight free throws by sophomore Cory Freeman put Xavier back in the lead for good at 74-69.

Wilt Chamberlain Gains Another Honor In Tourney

DALLAS (AP) — Wilt The Stilt Chamberlain, Kansas' 7-foot center, is definitely the most, according to the 32 sports writers who covered the Western regional NCAA basketball tournament here this weekend.

Chamberlain, who led Kansas to the championship with a 73-65 victory over Southern Methodist and an 81-61 defeat of Oklahoma City University, was the only unanimous choice for the all-tournament team.

The giant Negro, who scored 66 points in the two games and captivated the crowd with his great rebounding, blocking, passing and defensive genius, also was picked as the most valuable player, getting 30 of the 32 votes. The other two went to Jim Krebs, 6-8 center of Southern Methodist.

Kansas landed two players on the all-tournament team—Chamberlain and Maurice King, the hustling Jayhawk guard. Others making the team were Hub Reed, Oklahoma City University center, Krebs and Hal Alcorn of St. Louis. King beat out Bobby Mills, Southern Methodist guard by one vote.

Rosenbluth Voted Eastern Regional Tourney's MVP

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lennie Rosenbluth, North Carolina All-America, was voted the most valuable player in the Eastern regional NCAA basketball tournament at the Palestra over the past weekend.

Rosenbluth was a unanimous choice for the tournament all-star team and received 21 of 26 votes for the MVP award. The Carolina sharpshooter scored 62 points in two games against Canisius and Syracuse.

Other first-team members were Hank Novak, Canisius, the first player ever chosen three years in a row for the all tournament team; Stu Murray of Lafayette, Gary Clark, Syracuse, and Tommy Kearns, North Carolina playmaker.

Rookies Seek Stand-By Roles On Tribe Staff

By JERRY LISKA
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians don't expect their 20-game "oldest" winners, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn, to fade away overnight, but the Tribe is ready for the day they do.

Three, or possibly four Indian mound rookies could stick this year with the American League's constant pursuer of the New York Yankees.

Mke (Big Bear) Garcia, 33, is experimenting with a knuckle ball which could restore him to the Tribe's pitching "big four"—along with 37-year-old Wynn, 36-year-old Lemon and 23-year-old Herb Score.

This solid quartet, winning a total of 71 games last season; is backed by relievers Ray Narleski and Don Mossi, either of whom could become a starter in a pinch.

So Cleveland hardly looks like happy hunting grounds for any neophyte pitcher.

But mark down the names of Henry Aguirre, 25; Buddy Daley, 24; Stan Pittula, 25; Johnny Gray, 29; Dick Tomanek, 26; and Gene Lary, 23, brother of the Detroit Tigers' star, Frank.

Perhaps Aguirre, who had a 3-5 Cleveland record last season, Daley and Gray or Pittula can hang on with the Tribe this year.

Lary, a 19-7 winner for Mobile and the Southern Assn.'s most valuable player last season, isn't far away. Tomanek also is regarded a top prospect despite an injury hex which has jinxed him for three years.

In the opinion of pitching Coach Mel Harder, the Tribe has a "couple of spots" open for these newcomers, but it won't be because Lemon and Wynn can't carry the load.

"There has been a lot of talk about the age of Lemon and Wynn and a lot of wondering how long they can continue to be big winners," said Harder.

"The thing to remember about Lemon and Wynn is that they never had any serious arm trouble. When you get up in pitching years that means a lot. Don't worry, Lemon and Wynn have a couple of good years left."

New Tribe Manager Kerby Farrell is familiar with Aguirre and Daley, who between them won 21 games for Farrell's championship Indianapolis club last season. Daley, a sort of Eddie Lopat-type pitcher with easy, control stuff, last year was sent down by Cleveland when Aguirre came up from Indianapolis.

Ken Eddy's Ousted From State Lead

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—Crosstown Cleaners of Omaha took over first place in the Nebraska Women's Bowling Tournament Sunday by using a 195 handicap for a 2,657 total in the Class A team division.

Ken Eddy's of Lincoln, the previous leader, dropped to second.

Another Omaha entry, Terry's Swing Spot, posted a new high scratch for the tournament, 2,514.

Pauline Bickel of Omaha had an all-events total of 1,621 to move into second place in that division.

708 Series Tops In ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Dean Overholser of Chicago blasted his way into first place in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress tournament Sunday with a three-game total of 708.

The 42-year-old plant engineering clerk chalked up games of 227, 247 and 234 to oust John Crimmins of Detroit from first place. Crimmins had assembled 705 on March 14.

Joe Root and John Skeris of Sheboygan, Wis., charged into the doubles lead with 1303. They rolled games of 426, 435 and 442 to better Lowell Caddell and Larry Chase of Lubbock, Tex., who had taken charge of the two-man field March 15 with 1245.

Root, a 44-year-old bowling alley proprietor, was the big gun with 693, Skeris, 42, a furniture repairman, held up his end with 610.

In last year's ABC there was only one 1300 two-man total, the 1331 that won Chicago's Bill Lillard and Stan Gifford the doubles crown.

Teamwork
ST PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota game wardens are teaming up to catch more game and fish violators. Last year they made 3,692 arrests, compared with 3,110 the year before.

The game and fish division says warden teamwork, rather than more violators, has resulted in more arrests.

Featherweight Elimination Tops Card

The Associated Press
Miguel Berrios, tiny dynamo from Puerto Rico, and fleet-footed Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn, touch off the featherweight elimination tournament in a 12-rounder at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The winner moves into the semifinals against Nigeria's Hogan (Kid) Bassey, British Empire titleholder. The semifinal victor then is supposed to take on France's Cherif Hamia, European ruler, in the final for the 126-pound title vacated by the retired Sandy Saddler.

On a comparison of performances against common foes, Berrios, an aggressive, 5-foot, 2 inch, hooker, rates the edge over the handsome counterpuncher although it's a pick 'em fight in the betting. Berrios, 24, lost to Hamia and beat Ike Chestnut. Costa, 22, lost to Hamia and was stopped in eight rounds by Chestnut.

Berrios has a 20-7 record with three kayos. Costa's record is 30-5-5, including three kayos.

The bout will be broadcast and telecast—NBC 9 p.m., CST—coast to coast.

The amateurs again will take over the Wednesday night radio-television—ABC 9 p.m., CST—spot at Chicago Stadium with the East vs. West Golden Gloves championship.

Dressen Strives To Keep Cuban Roomies In Full-Route Groove

By JACK HAND
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — One of Manager Chuck Dressen's many jobs in the Washington camp is to make a nine-inning pitcher out of Camilo Pascual, who is called "the best six-inning pitcher in baseball."

"If he can learn not to let up on his pitch when he's in a jam, just to be sure of getting the ball over the plate, he can be the top winner on our club," said Dressen.

Many baseball men think Pascual's chief problem is a fellow named Pascual. When somebody gets a home run off his fast ball, Camilo burns up and wants to strike out the next man. The first thing he knows he has thrown up another home run ball and he's out of the game.

This is the way Pascual explains it.

"I no try to strike out every man. If I get two strike I go for strikeout. Sometimes I pitch real good, five-six innings. Then I no feel the same. I try force myself then I get tired. Somebody hits the ball."

As for Dressen's plans for 1957. He is handling Pascual and his roomie, Pedro Ramos, differently then he did last spring.

"I'm trying to keep them in the same groove as in Cuba," said Dressen. "Last year I tried to spare them, figuring they had pitched all winter. Maybe that's what got them out of the habit of going nine."

"If that Pascual ever gets his bearings, watch out, he could win 20. He has all the stuff to do it with."

Pascual didn't come close to 20 last year. In fact he didn't come close to 10. He finished with a 6-18 record and set a new American League record with 34 home run balls. However, he struck out 162, a total that hasn't been topped by a Washington pitcher since Walter Johnson whiffed 188 in 1917.

Pitching for Cienfuegos in the Cuban winter league, Pascual led the league with a 15-5 record including several shutouts.

"It is different pitchin' g in Cuba," he said. "In Havana, I pitch maybe every six days. Up here I can throw hard some day, not so hard the next. Sometimes I feel a little tired when July and August comes."

Despite his poor record, Pascual was rewarded with a $1,000 pay raise this year, a pre-payment on his "potential" according to President Cal Griffith.

"I try have good year," the 23-year-old Cuban told Griffith. "It's time. I'm getting old here."

667 Total Boosts Central City Bowler To State Singles Lead; 625 High Scratch

OMAHA (AP)—Delane Chader, Central City, posted a 677 with 63 handicap Sunday to become the new leader in the singles event of the Nebraska Men's Bowling Tournament.

Vern Wheeler of Millard rolled a new scratch high, 625. With a 42 handicap, his 667 total put him in second place in the singles.

Joining Chader and Wheeler as newcomers in the top five were C. T. York, 90-662, and Larry Kaeding, York, 45-661. Harold Clifford of Omaha, leader until Sunday, dropped to third with his 667 on 66 handicap.

Ike Likely To Offer Britain Some A-Weapon Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is expected to advise Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Bermuda this week that the United States is prepared to give Britain limited assistance in becoming an atomic military power. Final details of the plan were said by diplomatic officials to be subject to further negotiation. But in principle the United States was reported to have decided to provide Britain with such devices as guided missiles for carrying atomic explosives. The atomic warheads cannot under American law be furnished to any foreign power, however friendly, but in event of emergency it is conceivable, officials said, that the law could be changed quickly and warheads which have been reported stored in the European area might be supplied. However, Britain is developing its own atomic weapons on an increasing scale, according to information here, and the present prospect is that the British in time will provide their own warheads.

beginning Wednesday between Eisenhower and Macmillan along with a list of other top issues ranging over the whole scope of world affairs and particularly concerning the Middle East and relations with the Communist bloc. On the latter point, the British government is reported keenly interested in obtaining the relaxation of the trade embargo maintained by many free nations against Red China. The United States, in principle, is opposed to weakening the embargo. Eisenhower may be prepared to take some action however to give new force to an agreement reached here early last year with Anthony Eden, who was then prime minister. Under that agreement the United States agreed to review the listing of specific embargoed items, such as raw rubber, when it could be shown that the sale of such items to Red China would benefit the economy of the seller nation without adding to the war potential of the Chinese Communists.

The Bermuda negotiations on weapons will be carried on against a background of considerable work already done. Earlier this year British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys conferred here with Pentagon leaders about obtaining United States help in increasing the firepower of British forces while decreasing their manpower. The British government has been making plans for heavy manpower cuts in order to reduce expenses. Urge No Cut
The United States has urged the British not to reduce their forces committed to the North Atlantic treaty organization to such an extent that it would create a sweeping wave of military cutbacks throughout western Europe. There have been some indications that the British are responsive to the American viewpoint, and that especially in the case of their 80,000 men in western Germany they will slow down the reduction process in order to avoid any quick weakening of NATO strength there.

Dr. Frank Court Hits Police, Fire Integration Plan, Recent Dismissal

Dr. Frank Court, minister at St. Paul Methodist Church, criticized the Lincoln Police and Fire Departments' "buddy system" plan Sunday during his Lenten sermon on the life of Christ.

Dr. Court told the congregation, after discussing whether political matters were within the realm of church activities, that "it seems to me highly unfair" to order a fireman to take on policemen's duties, or to require police to take on firemen's work.

He also commented that the recent dismissal of a fireman for refusing to carry on police duties was unfair.

During his talk, he also said "we in Nebraska are neglecting the needs of our older people" because ama and to establish extended service between Benet and Lincoln.

Contracts Show Drop—Contracts for future construction in Nebraska totaled $10,363,000 in January, a decrease of 32 percent compared to January 1956, F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news and marketing specialists, reported. January contracts by the major construction categories compared to the like 1956 period show: non-residential at $7,149,000, up substantially; residential at $1,629,000, down markedly; and heavy engineering at $1,585,000, down 53 percent.

of the lack of state funds for matching federal old age assistance funds.

"More tax money is needed," Dr. Court said, "to meet the needs of our people." He cited the need for funds by the University of Nebraska and commented that "I think they need every penny they are asking for."

"If a sales tax is not the answer, then some other form of taxation must be adopted," he added. "Not all the burden can be placed upon property owners."

Cites LB 401
Another matter he cited as necessary for serious consideration by legislators is LB 401, which he said, included allowance for charging 36 per cent interest on used car installment loans.

Dr. Court's sermon concerned Christ's concern for all of life. He also discussed the work of the Apostles and of other famous men in church history, pointing out their concern for the affairs of man as well as their worship of God.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.* Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

East Texas Cyclone Winds

... 9.20 At Texas City

DALLAS (U.P.)—Winds up to 80 miles per hour battered south Texas points with as much as 9 inches of rain Sunday. A number of persons were injured and at least a dozen buildings were damaged.

The Galveston County Sheriff's office said a tornado hit Port Bolivar. Members of two unidentified families were injured.

Low-lying roads were flooded up to car-window height between Houston and Galveston. Dickinson Bayou in Galveston County was reported within 20 inches of flooding.

Twisters also were reported at Houston, Texas City, Arcadia, and near San Angelo. Hall fell in San Antonio and Bryan.

The violent weather came as moist air from the Gulf collided with a cool front moving into the Texas panhandle. Most of the eastern half of Texas had precipitation of varying degrees. Little more than traces fell in the western half, where the drought damage was worst.

Heavy afternoon rains left 9.20 inches recorded at Texas City.

In Houston, water was reported near homes in several areas. However, Howard Jensen, Harris County flood control engineer, said he saw no danger of a general flood. He made an inspection of Buffalo Bayou and White Oaks Bayous.

Another twister reportedly hit a farm near San Angelo. Residents of nearby Miles said they saw the funnel dip twice but there was virtually no damage.

Heavy hail and rain hit San Antonio. The elements damaged the storm warning radar unit at the city's International Airport.

Hail about one-half inch in diameter fell on the city.

Drenching cloudbursts stopped traffic in Dallas early in the day.

Early Monday it was still raining at Dallas and Waco.

Crack 'Miamian' Train Derailed

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., (U.P.)—Six coaches of the "Miamian," fast Miami to New York passenger train, left the track here, injuring 16 persons, none seriously.

Four of the injured, however, required hospitalization.

I. E. Hamilton, Florida East Coast Railway superintendent, declined to give a cause for the derailment, in which three diesel engines, a baggage car and the six coaches skidded sideways across the track. None of the cars overturned.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

Looks like everything but the Moscow brand of colonialism is fading like calico in a long summer.

The tag colonialism means you jump another man's claim and declare him a second class citizen. The Moscovs make him third.

But they call it by another name like hamburger steak in the walled-off Astoria. The Japs tagged it Asiatic co-prosperity.

Colonies were first started by exiled Phoenicians who gradually became as independent and loose as top soil in Arkansas. The Greeks aped the caper with the ditto results.

The Romans had the same trouble with their overseas consuls who got as ambitious as ants carrying shovels.

Spain colonized the entire new world but never got its chips to Only true colonizer is United States which puts coal in your cellar, grub in your cupboard and cleans up your backyard. Then Uncle Sam tips his hat and wishes you a merry horizon.

He leaves you better than he found you. On the theory if you don't shear the lamb you don't have to temper the wind.

Bad Business CHICAGO (AP)—Bank robbers had tough luck robbing banks in Illinois during 1956. There were 11 bank robberies and 3 attempted robberies, says Thomas Etcheson, executive vice president of the Illinois Bankers Assn. Of the total of 30 robbers involved, 17 were captured. Of the $77,890 loot, $24,433 was recovered.
